

Utah National Guardsman Pfc. Larry D. Chidester of Salt Lake City, who faced court martial for writing a letter criticizing President Kennedy, wrote another letter Wednesday thanking Kennedy for dropping the charges.

Driver's Condition Serious

Clintonville Youth Killed in Crash

PELLA — A 19-year-old rural Clintonville youth was killed instantly this morning when he was crushed beneath the car in which he was a passenger.

Dead is LeRoy D. Klemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klemp, route 1, Clintonville.

The driver of the car, Richard

A. Kortbein, 17, son of Armin Kortbein, route 1, Clintonville, is in serious condition at the Clintonville Community Hospital.

The accident occurred at 1:15 a.m. at the intersection of Shawano County trunks D and M, one mile south of here. It was Shawano's fifth fatality of the year.

Shawano County police said the accident occurred when Kortbein attempted to pass a car driven by Richard Kriewaldt, route 1, Clintonville.

Out of Control

The Kortbein auto apparently went out of control and went through the right ditch. The car traveled 200 feet into the woods, knocking down several trees before being wedged against a tree.

The car was demolished. There were no seat belts.

Klemp was a 1961 graduate of Clintonville High School. The body is at the Eberhardt and Hoh Funeral home where arrangements are pending.

Konev Replaced As Commander in East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—The removal of Marshal Ivan S. Konev from command of Soviet troops in East Germany is regarded as a most significant event by Western officials in Berlin. Konev has been replaced by Col. Gen. Ivan I. Yakubovskii, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

This restores the command situation prevailing before the East Germans built the wall across Berlin last August. Yakubovskii was then the commander of the 20 to 22 Soviet divisions in East Germany.

On Aug. 10 it was announced Konev had come out of retirement to take over from Yakubovskii. Three days after his appointment, the East Germans began putting up the wall to stop the flight of refugees.

Word of Konev's departure came as a surprise to Western officials here.

Konev has the reputation of being a tough and resolute commander. That was assumed to be the reason for his return to duty when the East was about to launch the perilous operation of sealing off West Berlin. Under his orders two Soviet armored divisions moved into position on Berlin's outskirts while the East Germans began the wall.

Storekeeper Held On Murder Charge

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A white storekeeper was held on a murder charge today after a shooting spree in his store that killed a Negro youth and injured five others.

Police quoted Ollie F. Sally, 59, as saying the teen-agers tried to attack him.

The boys, high school students on Easter vacation, told another story. They said Sally locked them inside his tiny confectionery store, then—without provocation—opened fire at them.

Police said 13 shots rang out before one of the youngsters, wounded in the knee, grappled with the storekeeper, threw him toward the rear of the store, and followed the other boys to safety outside.

Gas Believed Cause

7 Injured as Blast Rips 2-Family Home Apart in Milwaukee Suburb

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"I lit a cigarette and the whole thing blew apart," Richard Naug said Wednesday after a gas blast demolished his home, damaged two others and injured seven persons.

"I couldn't believe my eyes," said Mrs. D. A. Mattison of Lansing, Mich., who was visiting at a home across the street. "Walls were blown down just like a doll's house. There was a man crawling on the grass and he asked for water."

The man was Naug, 33, who had leaped from his second floor home of the two-story, two-family home in suburban Greenfield. He was in serious condition today with burns over 30 per cent of his body.

Gas Blamed for Blast

The explosion, blamed by State Fire Marshal William Rossiter on an accumulation of gas, damaged extensively the two-family houses on either side of the Naug home. Five occupants of the houses, including two children, were injured, as was a fireman fighting the blaze that followed the explosion.

Only interior portions and the chimney of the Naug home remained. Firemen tore down the chimney as a safety measure. The first floor quarters of the house were vacant and Naug was alone at the time of the blast.

The roofs and walls of the houses on either side were buckled by the blast and punctured by flying debris.

Loss Set at $60,000

Damage to the three buildings was estimated by Greenfield Fire Chief Charles Rule at $60,000. Firemen from West Allis, West Milwaukee and Milwaukee joined the Greenfield Department in fighting the fires.

Rossiter said an accumulation of natural gas was responsible for the blast. He said pipes were so twisted he was unable to learn how the gas accumulated in the house.

A spokesman for the Milwaukee Gas Light Co. said, "We checked our main and service laterals into this building and found them in perfect condition. We are convinced that this situation was caused by circumstances not under our control."

Accused of Battery

Rossiter questioned Naug in a hospital and quoted him as saying he had smelled gas in the building, had loosened and then tightened the cap on the pipe to which a stove may be attached. Naug continued, Rossiter said, that the smell persisted and he again took off the cap, went to another part of the house, then returned and lit the cigarette.

A battery warrant was issued for Naug on the complaint of his wife earlier in the day, according to Assistant Dist. Atty. John Romann.

Inspector Edwin Purtell of the Sheriff's Department said Mrs. Sidney Naug, 27, said her husband left the flat Saturday and she did not see him until he popped out of a closet Tuesday night and began beating her as she fed their daughter, Dawn Marie, 2.

Purtell said Mrs. Naug related receiving a telephone call at work from Naug about 1 p.m. in which he asked if she was going to have him arrested and pleaded for another chance.

The explosion occurred about a half hour later.

The couple's child was with friends.

Highway Chief Asks Higher Taxation for Road Projects

Grasse Tells Builders State Budget Critically Inadequate

Military Fund Bill Passed by House, 388-0

$47.8 Billion Budget Biggest for Nation During Peacetime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has unanimously approved the nation's biggest peacetime military budget—a hefty $47.8 billion for the next fiscal year.

The appropriation bill was approved 388-0 in a roll-call vote Wednesday and sent to the Senate.

The money bill, $67.5 million less than Kennedy had requested, continues to emphasize a buildup of conventional ground forces and weapons capable of fighting limited as well as global wars.

The bill earmarks 18 per cent of the money for such items as six more Polaris firing nuclear submarines and 200 more Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The bill is $1.3 billion more than Congress approved last year. The new measure is for fighting forces and military hardware. Still to come are appropriation for military construction, civil defense and military assistance abroad.

In recent years the Senate generally has been more liberal than the House, and even the administration, with the Pentagon's purse strings. So the final figure could be even higher.

The House version would support 2,683,831 active military personnel and reserve forces of 1,003,500.

The House voted more than was asked for Army Reserve and National Guard forces, but the action would not prevent Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara from going ahead with his proposal to trim these forces by 58,000.

New Roads Inadequate

Grasse said he spoke with a knowledge that a tax-weary public may not like his ideas, but he said he regards it as his duty to tell the people of Wisconsin the "truth."

The truth is that his men are building roads they know will be obsolete in a few years, because there is not enough money in the current state road budgets to finance the kind that ought to be built, he said.

"Because of inadequate funds we have been forced to build two-lane bridges for today, knowing that four lane bridges will be required for the traffic volume of tomorrow. We are forced to build new highways at such an agonizing pace that the first sections are frequently obsolete before the last sections are completed," he declared.

Calls State Scale Low

Grasse said it is not his function to say how the required new highway "improvement" money should be raised, but he noted that the present scale of road user taxation is lower than in 35 other states. The present tax of six cents per gallon levied by the state on motor fuel is the basic

UW Gets Grant of $1.2 Million From Ford Foundation

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Foundation today announced grants of $3.25 million to Cornell University and $1.2 million to the University of Wisconsin to help expand their programs of non-western area studies, overseas rural development and other international studies.

Wisconsin's grant will be used mainly for its area-study programs on Latin America, India, and the Soviet Union. The College of Agriculture, one of the main participants in the Latin American program, will receive assistance for research and training in land economics and land tenure, both of national importance in the area. The university will also use part of its grant to expand studies of Africa and the Far East, and for comparative studies of economic and social development.

Torn Claim Checks Help Nab Burglar

LA CROSSE (AP) — County Sheriff William Boma, his deputies and even the prisoners in the La Crosse County Jail put 70 jigsaw puzzles together in the investigation of a $59 burglary and authorities now are holding a youth who admitted it and implicated six others.

The investigation started when the money was taken from a garden supply shop and radios and tools stolen from a lumber firm.

Casts of Footprints

Boma had plaster molds made of two footprints found at the garden supply firm. Then he took moulds to cobblers until he found one who said he put a heel on the shoe which made one of the prints.

The shoemaker gave the sheriff a box of claim checks torn into quarters or smaller, saying one of the checks involved the shoe in question. The shoemaker said he couldn't remember the owner's name but would recognize it if he saw it.

The sheriff, his deputies, the prisoners, finally put 70 of the checks together before the shoemaker found the name.

The shoe belonged to a youth, who was quickly picked up and admitted the burglary, and implicated six pals. Five youths, ranging in age from 14 to 18, were jailed Wednesday. The sixth had entered the service and left Wisconsin.

Effort at Pressure

Soviet Union Tries to Block Nuclear Tests

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union launched a series of diplomatic maneuvers today in an attempt to block the American atmospheric nuclear weapons tests due soon in the Pacific. The United States and Britain stood fast against the pressure.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin called in the 17-nation disarmament conference for an unpolluted moratorium on testing—a move firmly resisted by the American ambassador.

Zorin demanded that the United States promise to refrain from conducting shots over the Easter holiday weekend. He declared the Soviet Union would not agree to a recess of the conference unless such a promise was received.

Zorin's maneuvers tied up the conference in a procedural wrangle. The delegates — many with their bags packed—had been scheduled to recess today until Tuesday.

There was no indication in Geneva that the American tests would start this weekend. Westerners speculated that the first shot in the projected Christmas Island series was at least seven days away.

In a long session of the conference, U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State Joseph Godber insisted there was no change in the Western position. Simply stated it is this:

The United States tests will take place as planned unless the Soviet Union quickly accepts a test ban treaty with international control arrangements.

L. R. Watson, Civic Leader, Executive, Dies

Tuttle Press Officer Was to Retire May 1 On 68th Birthday

L. R. "Bob" Watson, 67, industrial executive, civic leader and former Outagamie County Republican Party chairman, died unexpectedly Wednesday evening at his Bellaire Court home.

His death came 12 days before he was to retire from the Tuttle

'Bob' Watson

Press Co., where he had been vice president, general manager and vice president in charge of sales. He would have celebrated his 68th birthday on the same day.

A former exalted ruler of the Appleton Elks Club, Watson was current district governor nominee for Rotary District 622 and was to leave May 22 for Lake Placid, N. Y., for a conference of other district governor nominees.

He also was scheduled to attend Rotary International convention in Los Angeles next month and then go to the World Fair in Seattle.

Born in Brandon

Watson's career was detailed in a feature story in the Post-Crescent two weeks ago.

Born May 1, 1894, in Brandon, Wis., Watson joined Tuttle Press in 1915 after graduating from Lawrence College and teaching two years at Tomah, Wis., High School.

After World War I service in Company K of the 128th Infantry, Watson joined Tuttle Press in 1918.

New Crisis Flares Up in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Battle-equipped troops deployed through Buenos Aires today as a new Argentine crisis flared between President Jose Maria Guido and the military leaders who put him into office three weeks ago.

Soldiers and national policemen were posted at key points in the capital to guard against Peronist disturbances as the military chiefs pressed Guido's government to bar the followers of ex-Dictator Juan Peron from politics once again. An estimated 5,000 more troops were summoned from the provinces to Buenos Aires.

Guido was reported standing firm against the military demand, but his new government began to wobble under the same pressures the military put on President Arturo Frondizi before ousting him last month.

Minister Resigns

Interior Minister Rodolfo Martinez resigned and charged the government was planning to defy the constitution by taking over the provincial governments. Labor Minister Oscar Guigros hinted that he also would quit.

There was no immediate reaction from the Peronists. But they have repeatedly warned of social disturbances unless the government allows the many Peronist victors in the March 18 elections to take office on schedule May 1. Leaders of the 3-million-member, Peronist-dominated General Confederation of Labor arranged to meet Tuesday to map strategy.

Informed sources said Guido turned down the military's demands in a 90-minute meeting Wednesday night with the three service secretaries, the army's Gen. Raul A. Poggi, the navy's Rear Adm. Gaston Clement and the air force's Brig. Jorge Rojas Silveyra.

Military Demands

The military chiefs demanded that Guido:

1. Order federal intervention in the 17 provinces still under local control, replacing their elected governors with federal appointees approved by the military;
2. Nullify the March 18 elections.

14 Slain, 8 Hurt During Algiers Terrorism Wave

ALGIERS (AP) — Fourteen persons were killed and eight wounded today in a new wave of Secret Army Organization terrorism in Algiers.

The terrorists struck in rapid succession in Algiers and its suburbs while top military and civil authorities were meeting in nearby Rocher Noir to discuss means of re-establishing order in Algeria's major cities.

Most of the victims of today's killings were Moslems. In one secret army commando raid, three Moslems were shot to death and another wounded in an open fruit and vegetable market in the center of Algiers' European quarter.

The other attacks were scattered through greater Algiers. Two powerful explosions wrecked government tax offices in downtown Algiers. Fire followed the blasts and damaged or destroyed files. No injuries were reported. The secret army is opposed to Europeans paying taxes to the government and has set up a collection system of its own.

Incredibly Difficult Space Feat Planned

'Ranger 4' Will Try to Take Close-Up Moon Photographs, Land Recording Instruments

BY ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Chicago Daily News Service
CHICAGO — Once again, possibly Monday or Tuesday, scientists will attempt a space feat incredibly more difficult than putting John Glenn into orbit. They'll try to take close-up pictures of the moon, transmit them to earth and then land an instrument to record moonquakes and meteorite impacts. The 60-hour flight was attempted Jan. 25, but excessive speed developed by the Atlas booster caused the spacecraft, Ranger 3, to miss the moving moon target by 22,882 miles. It went into orbit around the sun. Unbelievably Complex The technical demands of Ranger 4 are unbelievably complex. After launch, it must go into a "parking orbit" and wait some 15 minutes until the moon moves into correct position. Then, its second stage booster, the Agena B, must start up again and become a mobile launching platform to shove the Ranger's speed to near escape velocity of 24,500 miles. Throughout the journey, the Ranger will be called upon to make turns, roll-overs and other pronounced maneuvers to lock onto the sun to power its solar batteries and onto the earth to transmit and receive messages. Sideward Movement At one point, soon after separation from the second stage rocket booster, it must execute a 180-degree sideward movement to get into a new trajectory so that the unsterilized rocket will not follow it to the moon. It must also make a major correction at the halfway point—called midcourse maneuver — to get on a collision course with the moon. At 5,000 miles from the moon the final positioning maneuver must be carried out to orient the television camera. At 2,400 miles out, the camera begins transmitting a picture to earth every 13 seconds, down to about 15 miles. Retro-Rockets At about 70,000 feet out, the Ranger capsule is ejected and slowed down by retro-rockets for a landing. The capsule contains a seismometer to record seismic and other vibrations of the moon's crust for 30 days. The main body of the Ranger will be destroyed on impact with the moon. If successful, the close-up pictures will be able to distinguish moon objects 12 feet in diameter. The best earth-based moon photos have been only able to distinguish objects more than a half-mile in size. There is no assurance of success. In the event of failure, Ranger 5 is standing by for a trial later this year.

Than's Moscow Trip Important

Visit to Khrushchev May Decide Future Of U.N. Secretariat

UNITED NATIONS — Acting Secretary General Than's trip to Moscow this summer will largely decide the immediate future of the United Nations secretariat, insiders here predict. The Burma diplomat's long-awaited invitation to visit Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was announced Wednesday. Late August or early September is to be the time of the trip. Thus Than will be checking in with Khrushchev just before the fall meeting of the U.N. assembly that must rename him secretary general or find a successor. Than needs the active support of the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States, as well as non-opposition from France and Nationalist China — the five veto-wielding members of the Security Council. The U.N. chief saw President Kennedy in January for a solid exchange of ideas over lunch at the Waldorf-Astoria "embassy" of Adlai Stevenson. He will see British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan next week here, and later in London. He plans to visit Britain, Ireland and the Scandinavian countries. Than's wish for an invitation to see French President Charles de Gaulle has gone unrequited up to now, a casualty of De Gaulle's chilly contempt for the world organization.

Laws to Cut Steel Prices Were Offered

Kennedy Aides Worked on Plan During Dispute

BY NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, it was reported today, seriously considered in the midst of his recent battle with the steel industry a recommendation to Congress to legislate a steel price rollback. The President is described as having been extremely reluctant to take the step. But he definitely had aides working up such a plan for possible use if it had been necessary in his administration's drive to get the major steel companies to rescind their price boosts.

The idea was to require a return to the lower steel price level for a specified cooling off period during which there would have been hearings and discussion of any necessity for higher steel prices. Similar to Taft-Hartley This is much like the present Taft-Hartley law arrangement in which labor unions are required by court injunction to refrain from engaging in strikes during 90-day cooling off periods while issues are supposed to be aired and thrashed out. Other price restraint legislative moves were also being considered in the midst of the administration maneuvers to squelch the steel price jump. One such move was reported to be a simple resolution to Congress condemning the price increases. These moves are now on the shelf—now that congressional committees are planning investigations and the crisis is considered to be over. Hearing Postponed A House Antitrust subcommittee hearing on steel prices was to open May 2, but a short postponement was announced Wednesday. No new date was set. At his news conference Wednesday Kennedy said he had no ill will against the steel industry or its leaders or, in fact, any segment of American economic life because he expects them all to work together to achieve stability and the nation's goals at home and overseas. He made clear, however, that he expects his policies of wage-price restraint to be observed. In that connection he mentioned the next most important labor bargaining situation in the missile space and aircraft industry.

Mayor Within the Law In Using City Funds For Country Club Dues

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Mayor Haydon Burns was within the law in paying country club dues from public funds, says City Attorney William M. Madison. Madison ruled Wednesday the mayor properly paid $1,217 in dues to nine clubs—including three golf and country clubs—from an expense account for dues and affiliations. The attorney said under the city charter the mayor is required to be an official host and his membership in certain facilities comes within that role. The question of Burns paying club dues from public funds was raised recently at a City Council meeting.

Mother Elephant, Baby Healthy; Sale Fund Begins

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Belle the elephant and her five-day-old baby are doing fine, and the city of Portland is as proud as any new parent. The 225-pound male calf was born at the Portland Zoo Saturday. It was the first elephant calf born in the United States in 44 years. Morgan Berry, Seattle wild animal dealer who owns Belle, said he was deluged with offers to purchase Belle and her calf, with offers running as high as $50,000. Elephant Fund But he is a friend of Portland Zoo Director Jack Marks and offered to sell mother and baby to the city for $30,000. A "Jack Marks Elephant Fund" was established and a committee appointed to coordinate solicitations. No word was available today on how much money had been collected, but radio stations, business and schools were joining the drive. Berry was confident Belle would be a good mother, and he was right. She was so protective that attendants had a hard time separating the calf from her long enough to weigh him. Another Problem Another problem arose when Belle wouldn't sleep or let her baby lie down. Berry finally figured out that her jungle instinct told her she couldn't protect him alone. In the jungle, another elephant would stand guard while she and her baby slept. So Berry lay down on the hay and snuggled up to Belle's bars Sunday night. Belle, convinced she had a good baby-sitter, lay down to sleep with her calf snuggled between her and Berry.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A Tampa dentist, who was paralyzed from the waist down when he fell while leaving an airplane, settled a damage suit against Trans World Airways Wednesday for approximately $400,000. Dr. Byron G. Wilson's suit charged the loading ramp moved while he was leaving the aircraft, causing him to fall 10 feet. His spinal cord was severed, doctors testified.

President Kennedy Joins in laughter Wednesday at his news conference after making a stab at the word "proliferation," and fumbling it.

U. S. Nuclear Test Site Hot, Active

HONOLULU (AP) — Christmas Island, the U.S. nuclear test site, is hot, soggy, and a feverishly busy speck of land in the Pacific. Antennas sticking up all over give the coral atoll the appearance of a pin cushion. Nuclear tests are scheduled at the 222-square mile British possession this month. The antennas apparently are to pick up or emit signals connected with the tests. Workers returning from the island say about 1,600 civilians are employed there and at Johnson Island, 700 miles west. Both will be used for high and low-level blasts. Some workers, complaining of the heat and humidity, quit their jobs in mid-contrast. The island is just north of the equator, 1,300 miles south of Hawaii. The 1,600-foot runway at Christmas Island was described as busier than the civil and military runways at Honolulu International Airport. One worker said the ocean is dotted with submarines, Navy surface ships and transports of every kind. The intense equatorial heat was said to be affecting many of the 2,000 Americans and 400 British military men who make up Joint Task Force 8, the U.S. nuclear force.

Noiseless Hymns

150 Deaf-Mutes Plan 3-Day Easter Revival

BY SY RAMSEY
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Their world is silent, their hope eternal. About 150 deaf persons, most of them also mute, will begin Friday night a three-day Easter revival service at the First Baptist Church. They will sing hymns noiselessly. They will listen to sermons without a word spoken. Governor to Speak The concluding event will be Sunday afternoon, when Gov. Bert Combs will make a brief speech. His words will be interpreted in sign language by Mrs. Robert Brandon of Frankfort, who learned the process a few years ago when she vowed to bring more deaf people into the church fold. The congregation, ranging in age from 16 to 70, will come from Louisville, Lexington, Frankfort, Georgetown and Danville. World of Pictures "They live in a world of pictures," Mrs. Brandon said. "Each thing must be portrayed. They know what goes on. I have seen tears come into their eyes when they are invited to accept Christ." The sermons will be preached by The Rev. Carter Bearden of the Southern Baptist Convention at Atlanta. He is a deaf mute. Also participating will be The Revs. Herman Bowers, pastor of the local church, and Rex Purvis, minister to the deaf at Trinity Baptist Church in Lexington. Sign Language The song leader, Mrs. Alex Sams of Frankfort, a deaf mute, will give a solo in sign language. She will lead the congregation in hymns by making signs, then waiting for the members to duplicate her action. "There is a certain rhythm in all this," Mrs. Brandon said. "Spoken words are not the only way to communicate."

Navy Planning Atomic Energy Navigational Beacon on Sea Bottom
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is planning a navigational beacon, powered by atomic energy, at the bottom of the sea. The Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday award of a $60,000 contract to the Martin Co. of Baltimore for development of a deep-sea nuclear generator, an energy storage system and a pressure housing for electronic equipment. The announcement did not say where the beacon will be located. A prime purpose is for oceanographic research. A research vessel making studies can use the beacon to be sure it is returning each time to exactly the same spot. An 8-inch thick cast iron shell will protect the unit from water pressure, and at the same time act as a radiation shield.

Congolese Efforts to Prevent Tshombe From Leaving Katanga Fail

Troops Withdraw From Airport After U.N. Sets Up Gun Posts

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Katanga Premier Adoula. Adoula left Leopoldville earlier Wednesday for an inspection trip up country. Officials Angered Diplomatic sources in Leopoldville said central government officials were angered because they had not been informed of Tshombe's departure plans. Tshombe originally had balked at coming to Leopoldville because the central government arrested him a year ago at Coquilhatville when he tried to walk out on a unity conference. He was held nearly two months. Reports reaching Elisabethville said Congolese troops who prevented a U.N. DC4 airliner from taking off with Tshombe Wednesday withdrew after U.N. forces set up machine gun posts. The U.N. spokesman in Elisabethville could not confirm this report.

Airstrip Blocked
Tshombe had attempted to take off from Leopoldville at noon Wednesday but Congolese troops blocked off the airstrip. The plane turned back to the U.N. sector of the airport, and the Katanga leader and 22 other passengers refused to leave the plane despite the broiling heat inside.

Tshombe had been holding a series of Congo unity conferences with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula. He said in a departure announcement he wanted to make an Easter visit to Elisabethville and would return to Leopoldville next week for more talks. In Elisabethville, acting Katanga President Evariste Kimba declared Wednesday night that the central government's action against Tshombe showed "its absolute disdain for the negotiations."

Stern Demand
The United States and the United Nations joined in a stern demand Wednesday night that the central government release Tshombe. U.N. Secretary-General U Thant ordered the U.N. chief in the Congo, Robert Gardiner, to make every effort to aid the Katanga leader. The United States, which had joined the U.N. in assuring Tshombe's safety in Leopoldville, followed through with a statement declaring that Tshombe "must have full freedom to depart from Leopoldville whenever he wishes." Officials in Washington believed that Tshombe's detention had been ordered by lower-level Congolese officials acting on their

Now Business Can Judge Mr. Kennedy

Decision Against Steel Industry Indicates Feelings

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Reports coming in now from all parts of the country tell how shocked and surprised businessmen are as a result of President Kennedy's sudden assault on the free-enterprise system.

For 15 months now, businessmen have been trying to make up their minds about President Kennedy's attitude toward them.

There's been a tendency to give him credit for earnestness and fairness. Businessmen had observed that the President often spoke vehemently in denial of any idea that he was "anti-business." Yet it was known that among the advisers surrounding him, there were some who are inclined toward socialistic doctrines euphemistically called a "planned economy." Actually, in the period of more than a year that Mr. Kennedy has been in the White House, nothing really significant had happened on which a comprehensive judgment could be formed as to his basic attitude toward business. So everybody has waited for a clue.

Now the die has been cast. Businessmen have been stunned that a president of the United States should have acted impulsively and in anger. They had heard during the campaign that Sen. Kennedy was young and inexperienced in business. But businessmen refused to believe that a man who held the high office of president could even for a day ignore his obligation to deal fairly with all sides in a controversy.

Profound Change
The way Mr. Kennedy reacted, however, after the announcement of the decision of the steel companies to raise their prices last week has produced a profound change. There is discouragement as well as a glum feeling about the future of American business. Business decisions now evidently must take into account political considerations in the White House. Even European businessmen are aghast at the turn of events, and some call it "socialistic."

Already in Congress bills are being proposed by the radicals to break up businesses or to put pressure on them to stop price increases. Nothing is said about restraining the exorbitant demands of labor for wage increases. In fact, the strangest development of all is the outcry from the Steelworkers Union that they had been deceived by the decision to make a steel price rise. For they did obtain fringe benefits that will cost the industry an estimated $100 million a year.

Extra Costs
The steel companies have to pay for these extra costs. Businessmen really don't like to increase prices — it's always a competitive risk. But when they are caught between this and the necessity of keeping their profits at a certain ratio, so that investors will continue to furnish the money with which to modernize plant and equipment, something has to be done to make ends meet.

Now, with the government showing hostility to price rises, many companies in various lines throughout the country will have to accept the "profit squeeze" and deficits, or else take the risk of incurring the ire of the President if they finally do increase prices. It's going to be a tough decision to make.

Certainly few businessmen in such a mood are thinking of expansion. This means a drag on the durable-goods side, and perhaps more unemployment. It means that European steelmakers will be given more time in which to grab a bigger and bigger share of the American market. For the big steel companies in this country had hoped that the higher prices would give them funds with which they could more quickly modernize their plants in order to compete with foreign products on a better basis. This becomes doubtful now.

End Result
The end result is hesitation in business, fear, anxiety, a suspension of expansion plans in many cases. Certainly there's no inclination to do long-range planning in the present atmosphere. There'll be some attempts by the administration to "butter up" business, especially in pushing for legislation granting some tax credits, but this will hardly restore faith in the President's policies.

Mr. Kennedy's supporters may think he has won a big "victory" and that he is more popular than ever. President Taft won

Forces Far Beyond Shape American Life

BY JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Day to day living in America seems as broad as American life and yet one event after another demonstrates how much this life is shaped by forces far beyond America.

One example was President Kennedy's news conference Wednesday when so many wide-ranging questions seemed unrelated—steel, business, disarmament, labor, prices, profits, Berlin, nuclear tests, campaign costs.

Yet, almost all were interlocked and hinged on the cold war with communism even when there seemed no connection and communism wasn't mentioned.

Disarmament Plan

The same holds true in one after another of these meetings between the President and the press.

He started off Wednesday's session by saying a new American disarmament plan had just been outlined to the Russians at Geneva. Here the cold war connection was direct and obvious.

He followed this with a statement on his conflict with the steel industry—a conflict he won when steel backed down on its price increase—and how he has no ill-will toward the men responsible for the short-lived price boost.

He acknowledged the need of American business to make profits and said, "There can be no room on either side in this country at this time for any feelings of hostility or vindictiveness."

Cold War Roots

But his reasons for not wanting a price spiral to start at this time, when he's trying to keep the economy on an even keel, are rooted in the cold war. The United States is up to its neck in spending on armaments.

A general increase in living costs, meaning also increased defense costs, would jeopardize the economy and boost government expenses, at a time when the United States must stay financially sound to cope with communism and meet its commitments around the world.

Further, higher prices would cripple this country's ability to sell abroad, particularly to its allies or in competition with them elsewhere, at the very moment it wants closer trade ties with them.

Greater Western prosperity, particularly American prosperity, is vital in discouraging the ambitions of communism and in stiff-arming it in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

This is an endless chain.

There was, of course, a direct cold war link when Kennedy said this country now seems to have no alternative to nuclear testing since Russia wouldn't agree to an effective test ban treaty. The implications here were more grim than his simple statement showed.

Because there is no agreement not to test there is no reason to think both sides won't just go on testing and talking about not testing.

France Discussed

France came into the question but here, too, it was cold war stuff: How did he feel about sharing nuclear weapons with France? He indicated he was still against it.

West Germany also got into the questioning. This, too, involved the cold war. It was on the problem of reaching a settlement with the Russians on Berlin.

Even Kennedy's announcement of forgiveness for a couple of Army reservists who were critical of his calling them to active duty had a connection with Russia.

It was after talking with Pre-

Number 45 means that Tom's route consists of the 1000 through 1200 blocks on W. Winnebago, the 1200 block of W. Oklahoma Street and parts of N. Story and Summit streets. The good-natured young man has earned the admiration of his customers and has added 10 new subscribers to his route since the first of the year.

Besides basketball, his main interest, Tom enjoys hunting, fishing, bowling and swimming. He attends St. Therese Catholic Church, where he is an altar boy. Tom, his parents and one sister and two brothers — one of whom tops him by three inches — lives at 1007 W. Commercial St., Appleton.

Wolf River Planning

The creation of a Wolf River Basin Planning Commission, as authorized in an act of Gov. Nelson resulting from a petition of the seven counties involved, can be one of the milestones in the development of this uniquely beautiful region of our state.

The mere fact that there now is such an organization in skeletal form is not necessarily useful. It is what can follow from it that contains the promise. It would be an error to expect immediate or far-reaching results. The idea of inter-county co-operation for long-range plans development is not wholly new. But a similar organization in southeastern Wisconsin has had considerable labor pains.

As Gov. Nelson noted in his proclamation, there are emerging signs of natural resource user conflict in the scenic Wolf basin. They will be handled delicately, or the commission will run the risk of repudiation and failure. While one of the basic objectives that must be kept in mind is the recreational potential of this richly endowed region embracing more than 3,700 square miles, there are other values and other legitimate considerations. The need is to anticipate developments in these possibly competitive fields in relation to each other, with the ultimate public interest uppermost in the minds of the local and state officials who will be teaming here in a pioneer experiment of regional enterprise and collaboration.

In this community we are reasonably familiar with the more conspicuous natural resources of the Wolf River basin. It is when the observer regards them in the perspective of greater distance that they can be better appreciated, perhaps. Thus when the governor, quite obviously with some assistance from his resource department staff, prepared his statement on the values of the Wolf Valley his rhetoric was eloquent. He hailed the "unparalleled diversity" of its fish and wildlife, and "fresh water assets of incomparable value" and when he referred to the new Menominee County, he declared that it contains scenic and related resources "which cannot be duplicated anywhere in the United States."

These are strong descriptions, but they are justified. This is one of the jewels of the Wisconsin outdoors. Our earnest effort should be devoted to protecting it, managing it, and using it for the greatest good of the greatest number. The Wolf River probably is one of the most "manageable," in the lexicon of the professional planners, of any comparable basin in America and surely lends itself better to unified development than any other major valley in Wisconsin. Its people and those of the immediate environs look to the future with hope for sensible planning.

'The Liberal Papers'

There is in circulation an idea which may not be as extreme as "better Red than dead," but which may lead to the same end.

It can be seen, for instance, in some of the writings of those who seek compromise with the Soviet Union. This group can somewhat loosely be called the extreme liberal, or leftist group in the U.S.

On March 16 the first of two books, entitled The Liberal Papers was published with an introduction by Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.).

The book, which contains 12 essays by a select group of scholars, advocates the following actions by our nation: (1) Diplomatic recognition of Red China, with United Nations membership and foreign aid and recognition of Red China's claim to Formosa and the Pescadores Islands; (2) Diplomatic recognition of East Germany; (3) Recognition of our "untenable position" in Berlin; (4) Demilitarization of West Germany; (5) Elimination of West Germany, Italy, France, and the Scandinavian countries from NATO.

Also, (6) United States withdrawal from missile bases in Europe; (7) Abandonment of the "basically irrational conviction that the only way to avoid military conflict with the Communist world is to prepare for it;" (8) Invite the USSR to plug into our Distant Early Warning (DEW) line to permit advance notification of any surprise attack we might launch against the communists; (9) Liberalization of trade with the USSR; (10) A unilateral nuclear test ban by the United States; (11) Abandonment of our civil defense program; and (12) Foreign aid to all Communist countries requesting it.

In addition, there are two quotes from the book which are worthy of special attention:

On page 161, Prof. Charles Osgood states that "I, for one, would have to side with Lord Russell" in commenting on Lord Russell's contention that he would rather be "Red than dead." On page 30, Prof. David Riesman and Michael Maccoby, a U.S. Public Health Research Fellow, makes this statement: "But as the cold war continues, it becomes increasingly difficult for decent Americans, humane enough to prefer peace to an egocentric national honor, to be outspokenly and genuinely anti-Communist."

Recently, during the annual dinner of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Frank Barnett, a director for the National Strategy Institute, spoke of what he termed a Communist-planted theory which has been circulating around the United States. He added that countless Americans, not pro-Communist but equally not well-informed, have been circulating the thought. The theory, in essence, is this: Why blame Russia for carrying on the cold war? After all haven't we encircled their country with missile launching pads and bomber bases? Why not abandon these bases and demilitarize Western Europe as a sign of good faith. Then we will be able to sit down at the conference table with Soviet leaders and say, "Look, we've abandoned our bases to prove we don't want a war. Now why don't you do the same." Faced with this "reasonable" approach, the Russians will agree and we will have world peace.

This whole policy is based on false conceptions of the world Communist conspiracy.

Those who advance and repeat this theory ignore the events which have taken place since the end of World War II. The USSR has broken several provisions contained in the Potsdam Treaty and is bent on takeover of the free nations of Western Europe and eventually, the world. As Dr. Barnett pointed out, the only deterrent is maximum military strength. The moment we show signs of weakness or make concessions, the Russians take more. Witness the Berlin wall and the current Soviet campaign to ostracize West Berlin from the rest of West Germany.

Ideas such as those advanced in The Liberal Papers and the theory which Dr. Barnett spoke of in his chamber address are a great danger to the American people. The book was described by Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) in the following words: "Chamberlain surely never did as much for Hitler as is proposed under the name of Liberalism for Khrushchev and Mao."

Many of our nation's thought leaders and publications have warned us of "the thunder on the Right." Will we hear less now of the move for appeasement and surrender on the Left?

passages." Since their primary purpose then is not as wearing apparel, even if some purchasers put them on their heads for church, or decorate a coat pocket, their sale no longer is illegal in Philadelphia.

Besides, the assistant district attorney pointed out, Philadelphia has a city ordinance prohibiting the blowing of the nose on the sidewalk.

Case closed. And how much did it contribute to the improvement of the morals of the populace? And how much did it cost the taxpayers?

Ancient Art Of Winery Hit by Jets

From The New York Herald Tribune

"I wonder often what the vintners buy one-half so precious as the stuff they sell," wrote Omar the Tentmaker ages ago, in tones that express mankind's respect for an ancient and useful craft. But nowadays the art of winemaking, like so many other occupations, faces hazards and problems undreamed of even a few short years ago.

News has come from Beaune, in the heart of the French Burgundy region, of a sonic boom from a passing jet fighter sending 4,000 bottles of fine wines crashing to the stone floor of a cellar where they had been stored to mature. Obviously this was a possibility not considered by the designers of the winecellar when they were building their cool, dark and cobwebby storage chambers. Neither was it considered, we are sure, by the pilot of the jet plane, as he sent his booms shimmering earthward. Killing a bottle of wine can be a pleasant occupation, but this, surely, is not the way to do it.

In any case, we hope the pilot has been sufficiently admonished, either by the authorities or his own conscience, so that there will be no recurrence. France has been among the world's pioneers in the development of aviation, even as she had led in the art of the wine. Should she ever be forced to decide between the two, she will know how to choose.

Anderson - King Medical Aid Bill Should be Supported

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Two years ago I wrote a letter on the Forand Bill, a medical aid bill for the aged. However, it never was made into law due to our own (the working class of people) negligence in listening to false rumors put out by the American Medical Association and other similar groups of people who believe in bleeding the middle class and enriching the rich. Also because enough of us did not write to our Congressman urging the passage of this bill.

Now, we have another chance to do almost as good. That is in making the Anderson-King bill into a law. This bill has nearly as much coverage as the Forand Bill with but a few changes.

I would like to explain just what and who is covered by this bill. It covers immediately, 14,700,000 persons over the age of 65. Also 95 per cent of today's wage earners on reaching the age of 65. Therefore the eligibility is automatic through Social Security.

Looking Backward

Gov. Harvey Drowns in Tennessee

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 26, 1862.

The people of Milwaukee and other cities of the State were painfully affected by the telegraphic announcement yesterday that Gov. Harvey had fallen into the river at Savannah, Tenn., on last Saturday evening, (April 19) and was drowned.

The sad news passed rapidly along the streets, from man to man, and from house to house. It was as if the whole population had been bereft of a friend. The sorrow and gloom were general and deep. Later in the day, a hundred flags on public buildings and shipping went mournfully up to half mast. The bells of the city were tolled and the cannon, with a sullen sound, boomed a solemn requiem for the honored dead.

The popular demonstrations of grief over the sudden death of the Chief Executive of the State are no meaningless formality. Wisconsin never elected a Governor to rule over her personally more respected than Louis P. Harvey. Last autumn we earnestly opposed his election to office he has so honorably filled; but neither during that animated contest, nor since did we ever hear one harsh word spoken of him, or seen an unkind word written. His personal integrity was above suspicion and he leaves behind him a name untainted and a record unstained by a breath of suspicion as to the purity and sincerity of his public or private conduct.

Gov. Harvey was a native of Connecticut. He came to this state nearly 20 years ago and settled at Southport, now Kenosha. He was then both young and poor and for some time supported himself by teaching school.

He became the editor of The Southport American — the Whig newspaper — which he conducted with considerable ability but without much pecuniary success. Subsequently he removed to Rock County and was elected the cost for the people after 65 years of age is nothing. The insurance is paid up and there no fear of losing your home or the little money that you may have saved up during your younger days.

There is full coverage of hospital for 90 days with the participant paying only $10 per day for the first 9 days. (A clause that had to be put in because the anti-medical aid for the aged claimed all the older people would go to the hospital for all and all minor colds etc. . .) However, this is the only cost to the insured. After that, there is full nursing home coverage up to 180 days after transfer from this hospital. There is also outpatient diagnostic service. This is complete excluding the deductible.

This is not a yearly set-up or a one-time set-up but any and all of these services start anew after a 90 days waiting period. In other words, if you spend 90 days in the hospital, after 90 more days have passed, you are eligible once again.

Statistics show that 90 per cent of the people over 65 face costly medical bills. Nine out of 10 persons over 65 will be hospitalized. Two out of three will be hospitalized two or more times. Older people use almost 3 times as much hospital care as younger people.

In 1946 the average cost per day in a hospital was $9 compared with today's average of $32. The average hospital stay for a person over 65 is 15 days.

There are very few persons today over the age of 65 who could pay these bills without giving up other essentials or what little luxuries they might have. The average income of a person over 65 is $1,300 per year.

You ask what about private insurance coverage? Private insurance coverage is very expensive. Far too expensive for the middle class of people. Also, the coverage is very limited. Let's consider public relief.

GOP Will Campaign For Broader Sales Tax

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Resolutions approved without argument at district caucuses of the Republican party organization during the last fortnight have vindicated the obvious — that the Republicans will stand for the completion of the sales tax revision job to which they are committed by the record of their legislators and the convictions of their major candidates for the governorship.

For all practical purposes, this is the only position for the party to take, aside from the reasonably obvious fact that most of the active Republicans believe in the course as well.

They cannot condemn the hodge-podge selective sales tax program just enacted, as they want to do, without logically conceding that broadening of the levy is the way to reform it.

They cannot stand in a posture of sympathy for the property taxpayer, or promise him any relief from his woes, without standing for the sales tax as the only practicable means of achieving such relief.

Republican candidates, it may be guessed, won't go around loudly saying they want a sales tax. They will advocate such a tax levy, in their speeches, only if it is required. Most of them know that it is going to be required and that there is no slightest chance that the trend for spending can be arrested or reversed sufficiently to avoid it. But they will prefer, if given an option, to adopt the more popular stance of economy. Even Wilbur Renk, who is regarded as the "liberal" of the contenders, is talking about tightening

Under the present law only the poorest are covered. Any savings or income above the minimum makes you ineligible. In many states, not only your savings must be exhausted but your children's also. You have no choice of hospital or doctor.

Then there is the so-called Kerr-Mills Bill where the state and government split the cost. But under this bill the aged must first exhaust their savings. If he owns a home he must first sign it over to pay his bills. After the house is gone the rest is paid for through the Kerr-Mills Bill, if there are no children that can pay, the children under the law are responsible for their parents and all their medical bills. However, Wisconsin does not have the Kerr-Mills Bill, but all the taxpayers in Wisconsin help pay for the states that have it, as it is financed for half by the U.S. Government.

Under President Kennedy's program the average wage earner will pay about $1 per month for health benefits for both himself and his wife after the age of 65 or perhaps his mother or dad.

Now, just what can we do to help the passage of this bill? We can do a lot and the cost will be very meager.

We can write to: Congressman Wilbur Mills, House Building, Washington, D.C.

Tell him just what this bill means to you and urge him to pass it. Also a letter to your Congressman John Byrnes, same address and tell him the same. This is what we can and must do if we want the Anderson-King Bill passed.

In his state of the union message to Congress on Jan. 11, 1962, President Kennedy said: "In matters of health, no piece of unfinished business is more important or more urgent than the enactment under the Social Security system of health insurance for the aged."

Ray Wiese, President of The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local 741.

32nd Division, Watson was named chief of Tuttle's Chicago sales office in 1923. Ten years later he came to the main office in Appleton as general sales manager. In 1955 he became executive vice president and general manager. In preparation for his retirement this year, Watson moved to vice president in charge of sales.

Civic Services

In addition to heading the county Republican party, Watson served as GOP chairman for the Eighth Congressional District. In 1944 he was a delegate to the national Republican convention in Chicago.

Watson's civic services included working with the Appleton Community Fund—one year as campaign chairman and another as president.

He held, at one time or another, all of the major offices at both Riverview and Butte des Morts Golf Clubs.

He is survived by his wife, two children, one brother and two sisters. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at First Methodist Church with burial in Des Plaines, Ill. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home from 3 p.m. today until 9:30 p.m. Friday and then at the church. A memorial is being established for the YMCA building fund.

Easter Egg Rolling, But No Kennedys on Lawn at White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn—a tradition started 72 years ago—will take place on Monday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

All children under age 12 are invited. Adults will be admitted only when accompanied by a child. The Marine, Air Force, Army and Navy bands will take turns playing music with the Air Force bagpipers tooting in between.

President Kennedy and his family won't be on hand for the affair. They are spending the Easter holidays at Palm Beach, Fla.

Missing Autographed Lincoln Photograph Returned to Museum

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (AP)—An autographed photograph of Abraham Lincoln, missing from the Theodore Roosevelt Museum here for the past month, has been returned by mail.

The 5 by 8 inch bust photo, mounted in an oval frame, had been on display at the Roosevelt Mansion.

Wrapped in cardboard and brown paper—but with the frame missing—the picture returned to the museum Wednesday. An anonymous note in crayon read: "I am sorry but please forgive me."

After the meeting with Guido, the service secretaries met for three hours with their top commanders. They were reported determined that Guido agree to their demands.

Five of the provinces, including key Buenos Aires province, are already under federal intervenors appointed by Frondizi at the military's insistence. The military made use of this intervention for the first time Wednesday by pressuring the Buenos Aires province chief to ban all Peronist activity in his area.

Short, Unlikely TV Career of Racine Man Ends

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The unlikely television career of Jim Davidson is ended.

Jim, 24, of Racine, Wis., was near the end of his studies for a degree in English at the University of Washington when he decided, impulsively, to come to Hollywood to get an acting job.

That was last month. Exactly four days after he arrived he got a steady job as the male half of a young married couple added to the cast of "Window on Main Street," a CBS series starring Robert Young.

Four days after he started working, the cast was notified the program was being dropped. Enough segments were made to last until the end of May, but after summer re-runs the program will be through.

It doesn't matter much to Davidson, anyway. His draft notice caught up with him and Wednesday he left for a new career—with the Army—at Fort Ord, Calif.

Grasse Asks Tax Boost For Road Construction

source of income for the highway department and is segregated for road improvements only. The levy was increased from four cents seven years ago.

The highway commission chairman is a Democrat, named three years ago by Gov. Nelson. It is not known whether he was speaking for the governor or with his approval, but capitol observers recalled that Nelson came into office in 1959 with a plan for higher highway budgeting but never formally presented it to the legislature.

Much of the Wisconsin highway budget is dedicated to subsidies for local roads and streets. Grasse did not specifically mention those commitments in his budget, but he told the road builders that "we have long been shackled with inadequate, impractical and unrealistic state financing laws," which are the most complex and most confusing in the nation, he claimed.

The commission leader probably provided a cue for the highway taxation campaign when he said more efficient transportation is inseparably linked with the state's industrial expansion goals.

Only through better roads than serve the competitive states which have geographical advantages can the state prosper through industrial and commercial expansion, he argued.

"We stand between the north-south flow of the Mississippi and the east-west flow of the new Seaway. Our old transportation handicap can be turned into a major advantage, if we link these strategic waterways with a network of modern roads and highways," he said.

Nelson said factors which are not credits to highways include litter along the roadways, traffic deaths and injuries, billboards and unplanned and uncontrolled business and residential developments that destroy scenery.

"We must take care that careless development is not permitted to nullify the advantages of millions of dollars of investment," the governor said. "We must take care that the travelling public can use the highways with an expectation of safety."

"We must take care that we leave something to look at—water, forests, open countryside—along the road and at the end of the journey. With these precautions, our new highways will create unprecedented advantages for the people of our state and nation."

Unruffled Woman Driver Causes 5-Car Accident

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—A unidentified woman driver today caused a five-car accident, but probably doesn't know it.

Kent County sheriff's deputies said the woman, driving a bright red car, put out her arm to signal a left turn at a Grand Rapids intersection. The driver immediately behind her slammed on his brakes, and four other cars crashed while attempting to stop.

Patricia Stroh of Bitely was taken to the hospital and treated for head injuries.

The woman driver? She decided not to turn and went straight ahead as the chain of crashes started.

Ex-Convict Homesick, Returns to Old Job

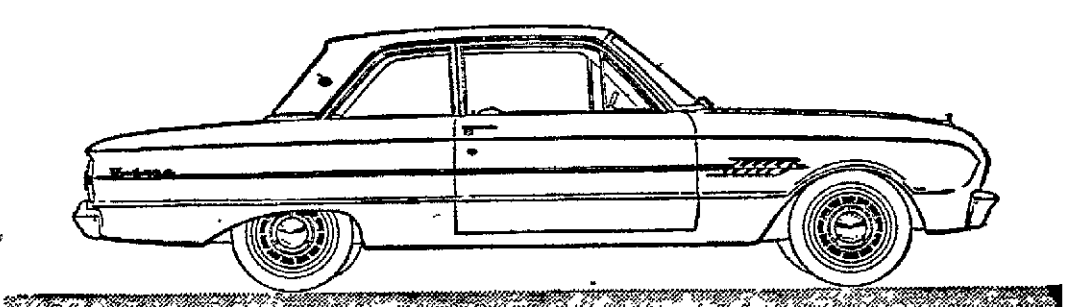

DETROIT (AP)—Homesick for his old job as the warden's cook at Indiana State Prison, Herman Lawson, 45, was headed back there today.

Lawson, an admitted parole violator, surrendered to Detroit police Wednesday and then waived extradition.

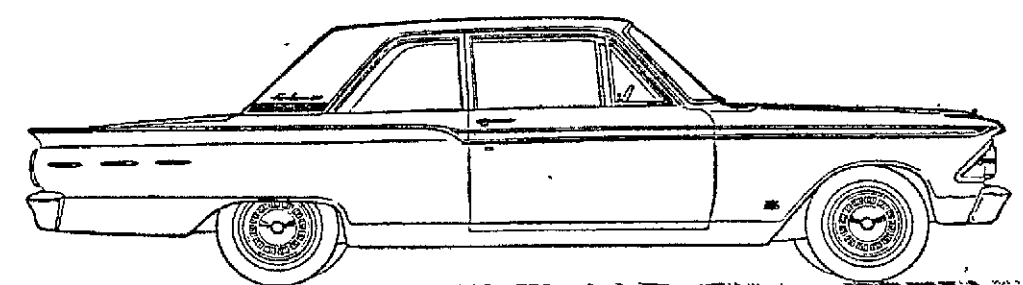

He called from an eastside Detroit restaurant where he had been working and said he was tired of running from the law; that he had violated his parole by leaving Indiana without permission.

Air Force Developing New Breed of Airborne Officers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force is developing a new breed, including a few flying generals, qualified to jump into battle along with Army paratroopers.

They are officers and men serving in the headquarters of the new unified Army-Air Force Strike Command and as air controllers, whose job it is to direct fighter plane support operations by radio from front line positions on the ground.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, has let it be known he wants as many as possible of his people attached to the new command to take the rugged jump training at the Army's Airborne School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

General Wins Wings

Lt. Gen. Bruce K. Holloway, 49, Air Force deputy commander of the Strike Command, recently won his Army paratrooper wings by completing five qualifying jumps.

Another recent graduate of the Army jump school is Maj. Gen. Karl Truesdell Jr., 53, commander of the 12th Air Force.

The Strike Command, based at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida, was created last September to weld combat-ready land and supporting air units into task forces which can be moved swiftly to any part of the world in an emergency.

Advance Party

At least an advance party of the headquarters likely would jump with the airborne troops on a combat mission.

Army Gen. Paul D. Adams, chief of the Strike Command, is a qualified jumper.

The 300-man headquarters staff is divided equally between Air Force and Army officers and enlisted men.

So far in the young program, 85 officers and men of the headquarters staff and the communications unit have passed the jump test.

Air Controllers

The tactical air command has decided that up to 10 air controllers from each of its 28 fighter squadrons should also qualify to jump with the airborne soldiers.

The aim is to get these controllers, all pilots, in position quickly to make sure the soldiers get adequate fighter support when and where it is needed after the airborne troops land on their objectives.

To date, 60 of these controllers have passed through the Ft. Benning classes which have space for training 15 Air Force men at a time.

Past Lives, Seen and Unseen, In Ancient City of Jerusalem

Aged Streets Remain After Jesus Way to Cross 2,000 Years Ago

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP) — The past lives here, unseen and seen, above and underground. The present atmosphere is ancient, yet it harbors time more ancient still. City lies on city, tier on tier, house on house, wall on wall, buried chronicles of man, still mirrored in the face of old Jerusalem.

Along these aged streets, 2,000 years ago, the Man of Galilee was driven, bearing on His back a wooden crossbeam for His execution. "Whoever would save his life shall lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake, he shall find it."

The way is cavernous and shadowy along the narrow stone and brick defiles that weave among the huddled houses, markets, courts and shrines. Open booths dispense their wares — cheeses, baubles, bedouin rugs and butchered lambs. Beside such cluttered stalls as these, passed Christ condemned.

"The living bread... the way, the truth and the life..." The passageways run crisscross through the maze of mortared walls, descending, climbing, slanting. Overhead the buttressed roofs and arches alternate before He reached the crucifixion scene.

The several places where He fell. Where Simon of Cyrene relieved Him of the heavy beam. The point at which He saw His mother. Where Veronica supposedly rushed out and wiped His face of sweat. Where He met the weeping daughters of Jerusalem.

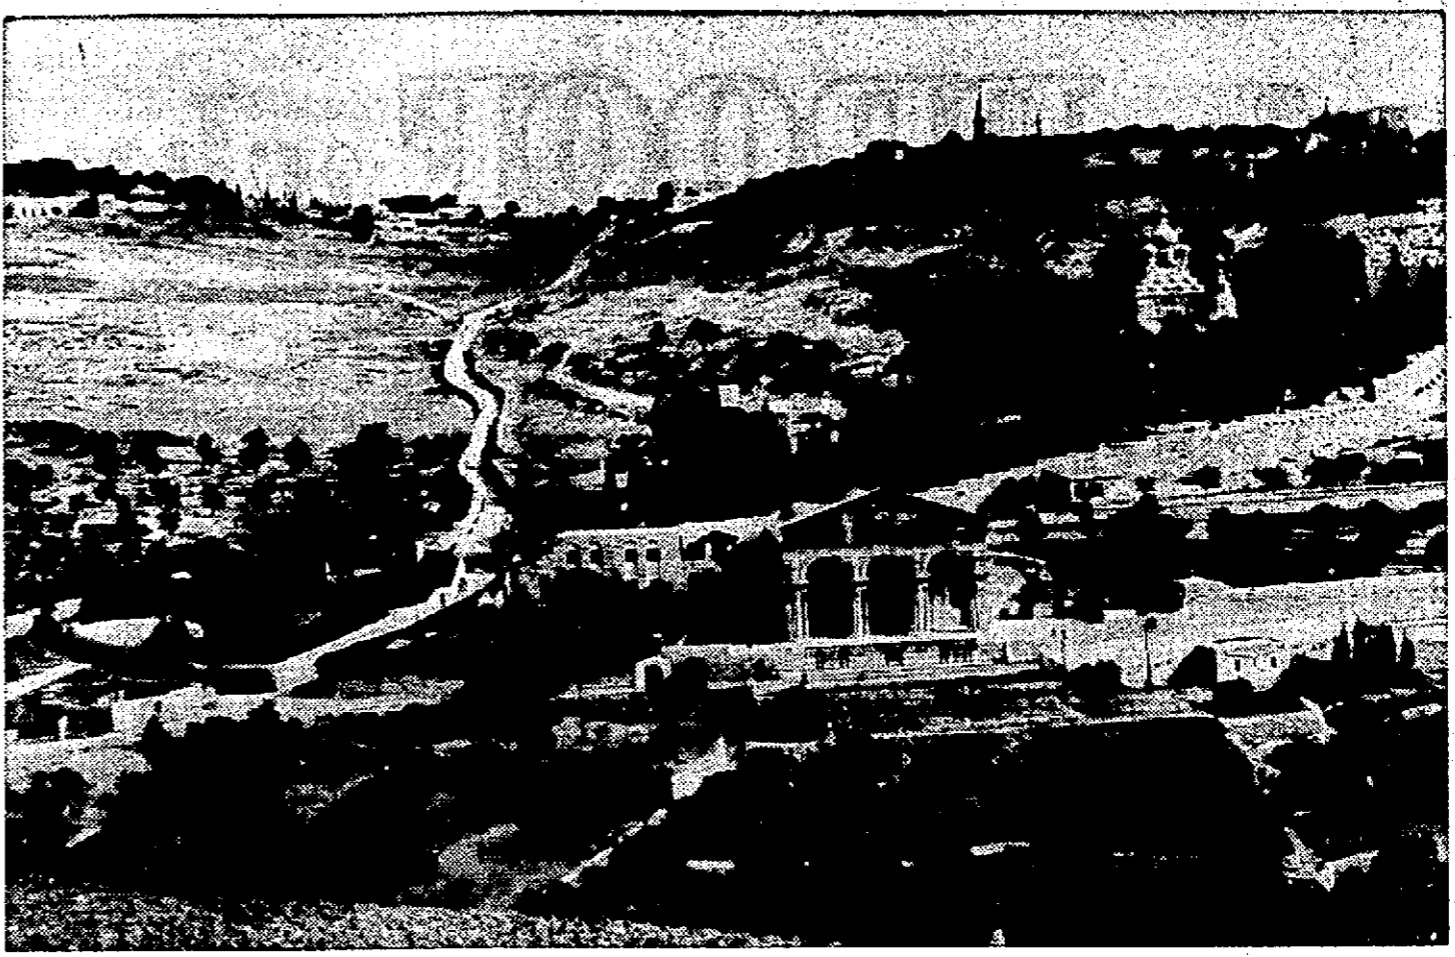

The route goes by the Jewish quarter, now devoid of Jews in hostile Arab territory. "A new commandment I give you, that you love one another, even as I have loved you."

Numerous policemen walk the streets, in epauletted olive drab, and shining metal helmets, topped by spear-like prongs. The troops that prodded Jesus through these close confines were Roman mercenaries, bronze-helmeted with swords and braided whips, barelegged in their tunics and cuirasses, flowing orange-hued capes across their backs.

"God sent the Son into the world not to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved."

Gate Is Narrow

From deep within a dark alcove came snarls of dogs, competing for some scraps. Up above, a dripping blanket hangs across a window ledge, in search of sun. Peasants, babbling merchants, tourists,

"Then He Went Out and made His way as usual to the Mount of Olives, accompanied by the disciples... He Himself withdrew from them about a stone's throw, knelt down, and began to pray: 'Father, if it be Thy will, take this cup away from Me. Yet not My will but Thine be done.' Today, as then, one can gaze from the Mount of Olives and see Jerusalem.

a mild depression. Then it rises gradually. In Jesus' day, the climb was steep, laborious and long. But changing structures, time and shifting earth have nearly palace in the upper city on the west, is gone.

The execution party threaded through the zone below, congested, motley, rent with shouting, hoots and snarls. And wonder.

"If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me." To the south, atop the hill beside the city's western wall, are ruins of Herod's castle grounds and parts of giant monuments he built. Not far away, the site where Caiaphas, the high priest, lived, where Jesus, bound in cords, was quizzed and pummeled.

Misty Veils of Time

Over to the north and east, remains can still be seen of porticoed Bethesda pool, the spot where Jesus healed decrepit men before the world's rigning powers intervened.

John, our guide, recited scripture, history, dates, with skill and sensitivity. We wandered, so it seemed, through misty veils of time, through labyrinthine stage-on-stage of mood and scenery. The somber street winds slowly up a hill. The hill is called Acra.

The fluctuating walls, the shutter-like extensions overhead, the intermittent gaps of light and sinking reddened sun, distributed chiaroscuro streaks along the slabs of stone that led, at length, to where the soldiers lifted Jesus up from earth—up on a cross.

"... And I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself."

New Office Buildings Hit By Criticism

Not Eye-Pleasing But Easy to Clean, Say Some Champions

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The new and functional office buildings springing up across the land have been increasingly the target for critical brickbats. But numbered among their champions are the cleaners.

Critics complain the new buildings are monotonously alike, often more functional than pleasing to the eye, and by their size and huddling together tend to multiply the evils of overcrowding in cities.

Among the champions understandably are the architects who say they are, too, beautiful. The interior designers say the new buildings offer the maximum in flexibility. Contractors say they are cheaper to build.

Easy to Clean
And the cleaners, whether on the building's own staff, or in the growing industry of contract janitorial services, praise them as much easier to clean and keep clean.

"You must clean more thoroughly because the lighting in the new buildings is better, the colors lighter and the layout functional in squares and rectangles," says William J. Frankel, president of National Cleaning Contractors Inc. "There's no gingerbread to get as dirty as in the old buildings, but now the dirt is out in plain sight."

Air conditioning has helped a lot in keeping out soot-laden air, the professional cleaners say. Some new buildings have windows that only the cleaners can open with special keys. In New York that's an item, since the city fathers say 68.4 tons of soot fell on each square mile last year.

Air Conditioning
Of more than two-billion square feet of office space available in private and government buildings 65 per cent is now air conditioned, compared with 30 per cent in 1955, according to Russell Gray, president of Carrier Air Conditioning Company. He predicts $2 billion will be spent in the next five years for air conditioning of new and existing buildings and for replacements.

Frankel notes other aids to the janitorial chores: better cleaning materials, easily cleaned composition flooring, washable paint, and extensive use of tile, porcelain enamel, stainless steel or aluminum trim and scuff plates.

National's business is centered in the New York area, Newark, N.J., Philadelphia, with some contracts in Chicago.

Other big, publicly owned janitorial companies include: American Building Maintenance Industries, with most of its contracts in the Far West and some in New York and Detroit, and Allied Maintenance Corporation, a big operator in New York, with contracts in many cities in the United States and Canada.

Dead Have Voices

"... all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

The dead have voices here among the living, etched in tombs and monuments, preserved in dusty corridors, in age-worn tiles and massive blocks heaved up by Herod's slaves. Time seems cumulative here, instead of passing. A hallway floor may once have been the paving on a bridge.

Moving to and fro are pilgrims, monks, yelling bands of waifs, the donkey carts, sudarium-clad horsemen, sheiks in long ebayas, scarlet fezzes. One man grunts along, his back bent low beneath a crate of oozing, smelly fish.

From somewhere comes a medieval Christian chant, and interwoven with it are the wailing calls to evening prayers by Moslem muezzins, along the route that mankind harried Jesus.

From Eras Past

"He who sees me sees Him who sent me."

Customs here in old Jerusalem, within the Jordan sector, come from eras past. Open cooking braziers burn in central rooms. Along the street a peddler carries a plate of steaming beans atop his head, then stops to ladle portions out in folded strips of paper. I stopped inside a barbershop to get a shave and found they used an old technique of crossing threads to shear the fine whiskers close. They served me potent tea, perhaps to ease the pricks.

The people here are effortlessly friendly. Most of them have little but their wealth of warmth. It comes so artlessly it seems almost a feature of some bygone day, archaic, quaint, as old-fashioned as their habits, shops and dress. The past survives in them, also, in thing long gone that still exist today, where Jesus trudged.

"I go to prepare a place for you.... Our guide, a bright and gracious Jordan youth named John Assad, who hopes to go into the Presbyterian ministry, led us to the spot where Pilate ordered Jesus crucified — the pavement called the Lithostrotos.

Worn Smooth

Several sections, worn to glassy smoothness, still are there, encompassed by a convent, church and Moslem boys' school on ground once occupied by Rome's Fort Antonia.

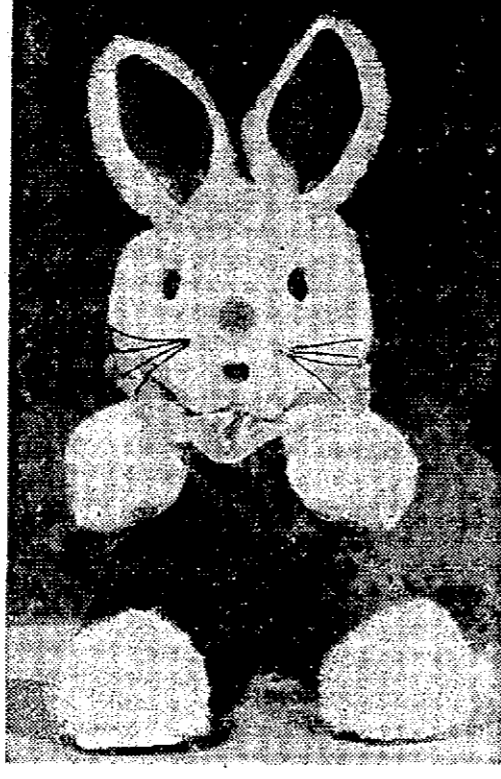

A crimson rank of bougainvillea bloomed along a terrace near the judgment court. Nearby, within a somber room, a column stands, where He was tied and whipped.

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give you."

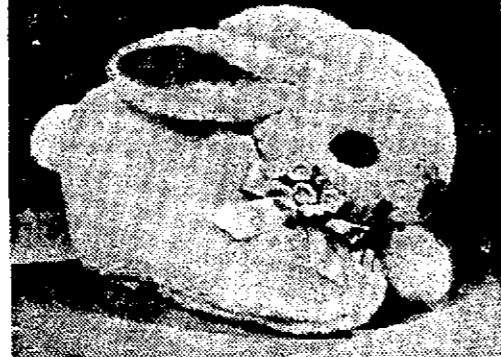

The Via Dolorosa courses briefly to the west, then south, then west again, a slow half-hour's walk, through narrow, gloomy passages, past noisy bazaars, up steps and ramps, through heavy gates and open squares.

The path is marked by chapels, monuments and churches of all kinds and shape — eastern, western, old and new. And tablets in the wall denote stations of the cross, altogether nine of them

Rites Set at Churches

Greenville and Stephenville Sites For Easter Services

GREENVILLE — Holy Week and Easter services for St. Patrick parish, Stephenville, have been announced.

Mass today is at 8 p.m. and from the end of the mass to midnight there will be public adoration of the Blessed Sacrament at Greenville.

Services will begin at 2:30 p.m. at Greenville Good Friday with communion distributed. Friday evening there will be stations at Stephenville followed by confessions. Saturday afternoon confessions will be heard from 2:15 to 4:30 p.m.

Easter Sunday there will be a high mass at 8 a.m. at Stephenville with communion for the Christian Mothers. A 10 a.m. high mass will be at Greenville.

At the E.U.B. churches of Center there will be communion services including first communion for the confirmands tonight.

The Greenville and Center E.U.B. will have combined Good Friday services in Appletan. Combined Easter services will be at the Center church with an Easter cantata including choirs from both parishes at 10:30 a.m. and Sunday school at 9 a.m.

For the St. Paul Lutheran Church, Stephenville, communion services will be at 8 p.m. today and Good Friday at 9:30 a.m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church in the Town of Ellington. Easter services will be at 9 a.m. at St. Paul Lutheran Church and 10:30 at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Easter services for the Stephenville Methodist Church will be at 9:30 a.m. and the Medina Methodist Church at 10:45 a.m.

Legion Will Have Barbecue At Carnival

FREMONT — A chicken barbecue will be sponsored by the Wolf River American Legion Post at the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Water Carnival June 24.

Members of the legion committee, Jack Abraham, Gilbert Puls, Kenneth Abraham, Melvin Prill, Ed Allie and Chris Burgner will meet with the Chamber of Commerce committee to determine the location of the stand.

Patriots Day was observed by the ringing of bells for four minutes beginning at noon. Jack Abraham was chairman of arranging for the owners of all bells to participate.

Evan Redemann was appointed chairman to arrange the Memorial Day observances.

Kurtz Talks to Rotary Club On Education

Superintendent Says U. S. Shouldn't Try To Copy Others

Our educational program should be planned to meet the needs here in America and not copied after that of Russia or other European countries, Appleton Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz told the Rotary Club.

"Comparisons don't necessarily give the answer. We should establish our own goals," he said.

He called the educational program "the most important area for survival." But education could serve as a tool of destruction rather than a tool of survival if we are not concerned with planning for the future, he said.

Listed Ways

Ways in which it could be a tool of destruction, he said, are by destroying the creative spirit, creating dependence on authority which might hurt the democratic ideal, encouraging group conformity which would lead to a totalitarianism of the mind, emphasizing the physical sciences to the extent that the humanities are slighted, and becoming a "wasteland of impersonality" in which individuals are slighted.

A primary objective of education, he said, is to provide adequately for training the mind of the individual, by creating in him a sense of self-discipline rather than a sense of conformity or authority, and creating the opportunity for him to analyze critically and to solve problems intelligently.

Everyone is a specialist in the field of education, Kurtz noted, and feels privileged to express his opinion about it. This criticism from the public is valuable when it helps education to grow and develop, he said.

He expressed concern about current pressure for a national curriculum, set up at a national level and leaving state and local authorities out of the picture.

To Your Good Health

Friction Creates Small Charges of Electricity

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: All winter when I change the linen on the beds I get electric shocks. You should see the sparks fly! Is there any help for people like me? —MRS. S. A.T.

Anybody can encounter this sparkly experience with static electricity. Dr. Molner charges are created by friction, especially when conditions are dry. The friction of your shoes on the floor (or more commonly on carpeting or a deep rug) can build up enough of a charge to make a spark.

One answer is to touch some metal object so that the charge disperses before it builds up high enough for sparks. Nylon and silk garments tend to accumulate these static charges. Cotton, which absorbs traces of moisture, isn't as likely to. That's why, in operating rooms, people wear cotton gowns and clothing, and avoid silk or nylon.

The little shocks don't harm you, but are annoying.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of birth control pills? Are they accurate, healthy, proven, etc? —N.K.

They appear to be promising but they have to be taken on schedule. Miss taking them, and there is a "rebound" characteristic which makes pregnancy more likely instead. (Medically, they are safe.)

Bus Line Has Good Reason for Quitting*

VINCENNES, Ind. (AP)—Ed C. O'Neal, secretary-treasurer of Wabash-Arrow Coach Lines, gave this explanation Wednesday for the firm's decision to discontinue Vincennes' three city buses May 31:

"Even the people who come to the township trustee's office for surplus food come in cars."

pills are used, and then stopped, for this very purpose. The same medication is also used for other gynecological conditions and menstrual abnormalities.)

Dear Sir: I have three children. The last, a boy, was called a "posterior birth." I had never heard of it, but the doctor said it made the labor twice as long. Will you please explain? —MRS. C.S.

Ordinarily a baby is born head first, and after the head has emerged, the rest of the birth is relatively easy. However, sometimes the baby turns around. Because of his folded-up position, he isn't born feet-first, but buttocks-first, and in that doubled-over position it is much more difficult for him to move from the womb to the world awaiting him outside. It could be that you've never heard of "posterior birth" because it so often is called "breech delivery." The term "posterior" may also refer to position of the skull at time of birth. Most babies present "occiput anterior," i.e. back of skull is forward. If in opposite position, it is called "occiput posterior."

Dear Dr. Molner: What do these readings mean: Cholesterol, 289, and sugar (blood) 116? Is it bordering on any serious condition? —MRS. B.H.

Both figures mean "milligrams per cent." That doesn't mean "116 per cent" of anything, however.

The term "per cent" simply means "per hundred," and in both these cases "per hundred cubic centimeters of blood." That is, 116 milligrams (or thousandths of a gram) of blood sugar per 100 cubic centimeters of blood. Or 289 milligrams of cholesterol for the same amount.

Blood sugar depends on whether the reading is taken before breakfast or two hours afterward, which usually runs between 90 and 120. Hence the range you cite is normal. The cholesterol reading, however, is high according to current standards.

Easter Hi-Jinks for Party or Family Dinner

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

Post-Crescent Food Editor

Colorful eggs and the Easter Bunny are age-old symbols of the spring holiday . . . they represent the bright, fun part of the season . . . the renewal of spring that's a welcome sight after a long winter.

Thus, it's enjoyable to adapt the symbols to the Eastertide . . . to make youngsters squeal with delight and to give them a family memory to cherish. If the traditional dinner is too formal in tone to make room for the bunnies and egg-shaped edibles . . . serve them in party fashion for an informal Easter supper . . . or make time for a later springtime party for a group of young fry.

The bunny theme can be used for charming ice cream and cake desserts or for delightful, edible popcorn rabbits easily molded over a simple waxed paper pattern. Both recipes are in the easy-to-make class. The ice cream dessert is made of the new flavor combination called Chocolate Marshmallow Nut Sundae . . . it's scooped onto a sponge cake shortcake or meringue with one of the marshmallow white streaks on top to look surprisingly like a bunny's nose.

Two egg-shaped Easter surprises represent both a dessert and a superb main dish for a luncheon or supper. The former is really a delicious Cranberry Bavarian Cream chilled in a melon-shaped mold. Piped with colored or plain whipped cream it becomes a festive Easter dessert.

The Easter Salad Rolls make an excellent dish for entertaining around the calendar. Topped with fluffy, tinted coconut, they fit the holiday season . . . but the crusty dinner rolls filled with an unusual chicken salad that has a Polynesian touch make a wonderful anytime party food.

Here are the four recipes designed to make a HAPPY EASTER.

Popcorn Bunny
waxed paper, 18 inches long
2 cups sugar
½ cup light corn syrup
½ cup water
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ teaspoons salt

4 quarts popped popcorn colored pipe cleaners gum drop or small jelly beans small ribbon bows

Spread a sheet of heavy waxed paper 18 inches long onto a flat surface. Draw a large egg-shaped oval nine to 10 inches high and five to six inches wide at widest point. Draw two long ears at the top, or wide end of head. Cut out bunny head. Smooth this waxed paper pattern out flat on a greased baking sheet.

Combine sugar, syrup, water, butter and salt in a large saucepan. Cook over low heat until syrup reaches the crack stage, between 280 and 290 degrees.

Pour warmed popped popcorn in large buttered bowl. Pour syrup in fine stream over the popcorn. Stir only until kernels of corn are evenly coated with syrup. Spoon popcorn onto waxed paper pattern and shape with hands into a bunny head, including the two long ears. Cool.

Use colored pipe cleaners, shaping as needed, to make whiskers and mouth and to outline ears, eyes and nose. Place a carrot for the nose inside of outline and place slice of gumdrop or jelly bean for the one open eye. Attach bow to chin. To stand upright, press into pins of metal flower holder.

The recipe is repeated, using smaller waxed paper patterns, for the companion bunny place markers.

Easter Egg Dessert
1 pint cranberry juice cocktail
1 pkg. lemon gelatin
¾ cup sugar
dash salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped tinted whipped cream for trim
Heat cranberry juice to boiling point. Dissolve lemon gelatin, sugar and salt in hot juice. Chill mixture until syrupy, stirring frequently. Fold whipped cream into mixture at this point. Pour into a well-oiled, one-quart melon-shaped mold. Chill four hours.

Unmold the bavarian cream on serving dish. Pipe tinted whipped cream in design on molded cream. This may be sprinkled with colored coconut if white piping is desired. Serve with crisp cookies.

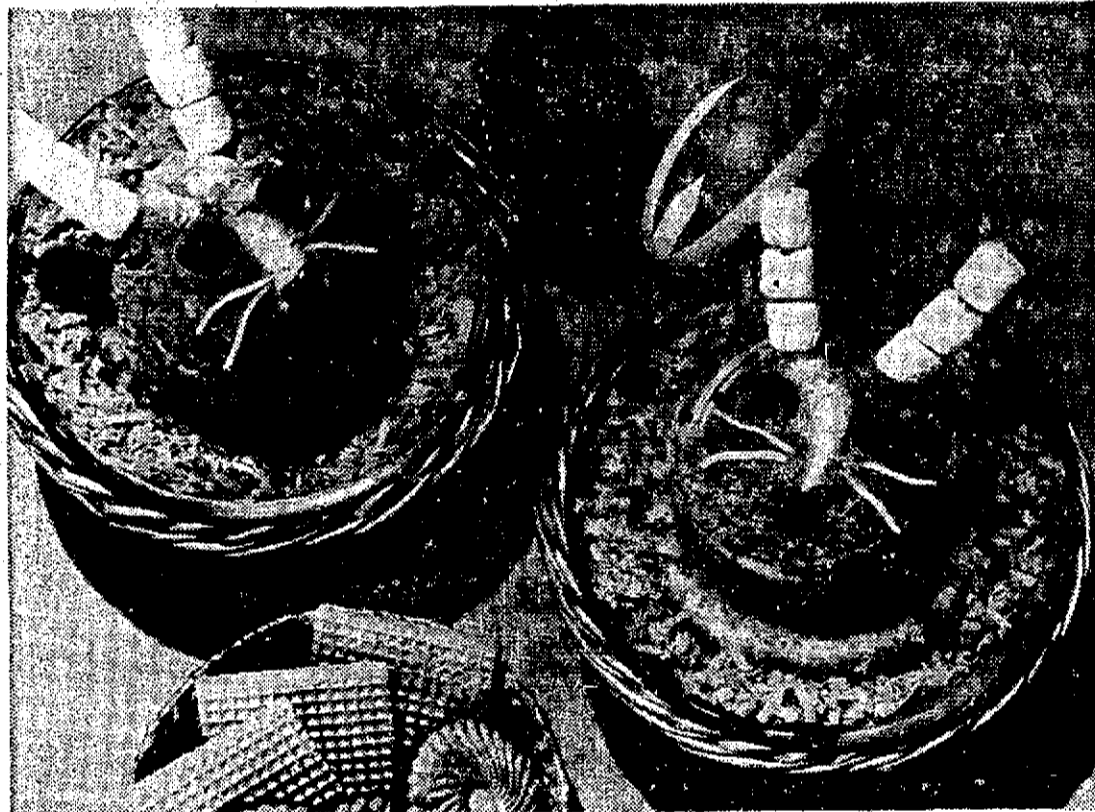

Ice-Cream Bunny
1 quart Chocolate Marshmallow Nut Sundae ice cream
8 sponge shortcakes
1 cup green tinted shredded coconut

16 chocolate chips
48 miniature marshmallows
white shredded coconut
8 red cinnamon candies
Center shortcake on each of

No Common Br'er Rabbit this . . . he's a wise and knowing Easter Bunny with his one eye closed in a jaunty wink. He'll make a delightful, foot-high centerpiece for either an Easter or springtime party table. A special touch can be added with the small copies of the big popcorn bunny at each guest's place. Simple to make with a basic recipe, the bunnies can be prepared ahead of time and be all ready to emerge from hiding in a cool place, fresh and saucy when the party moment arrives.

What Youngster Could resist these desserts made of chocolate marshmallow nut sundae ice cream? The fluffy marshmallow swirl in the ice cream is turned just right to form the bunny-white noses and the perky ears are made by threading miniature marshmallows on toothpicks. Chocolate chips, cinnamon candies and colored shredded coconut are all that's needed to make these attractive desserts. Perhaps, the young fry would like to create their own . . . it's a job that's both fun and easy.

This Cranberry Bavarian Cream . . . served in a melon-shaped mold for Easter . . . is a wonderful dessert for springtime. Here it's shown in both holiday dress as a huge, whipped cream piped egg or as individual desserts spooned into crystal dessert dishes and topped with cream for added elegance.

Serve Melba Ham for Easter

BY MARY BETH KUESTER
Home Economist
Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

A pretty fancy ham can be turned out for Easter Sunday dinner with very limited equipment.

An ordinary low-sided pan and a rack to hold the ham out of the juices for even heating are the only requirements.

To be sure you don't overcook tender ham, use an electric meat thermometer. This handy piece of range equipment lets you know when your ham reaches the recommended temperature. Hams labeled cook-before-eating should get to 160 degrees. The fully cooked kind should be heated to 130 degrees. Set range to a low 325 degrees for both types.

Ham Melba is an easy but special way to give a ham a holiday look. Spread melted raspberry jelly from a 10-ounce glass over the ham. This is done about one-half hour before the end of cooking time. Return ham to oven to set the sweet raspberry glaze and complete cooking. The Melba touch is added by filling peach halves with additional raspberry jelly. Heat these briefly in the oven and serve as a garnish on the ham platter.

After a hearty ham meal, serve a light but luscious dessert. Here's a fluffy pie that looks and tastes as fresh as spring. The crunchy crust is easy to make.

Butter Crunch Lemon Chiffon Pie

1/2 cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
3/4 cup water
3/4 cup lemon juice
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
4 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar
Blend sugar, gelatin, water, lemon juice and egg yolks thoroughly in saucepan. Heat over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Stir in lemon rind. Place pan in cold water. Cool until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon.

Make a meringue from the egg whites, cream of tartar and sugar. Fold the cooled lemon mixture into the meringue. Pour into cooled crust. Chill.

Butter Crunch Crust

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed firmly
1 cup flour
3/4 cup chopped nuts or coconut
Heat oven to 400 degrees. Combine ingredients, mixing with hands, until thoroughly blended. The nuts may be pecans, walnuts or others that are preferred. The coconut is a variation that may be substituted for the chopped nuts.

Spread mixture in an oblong pan. Bake 15 minutes. Take from oven and stir with spoon. Press one and three-fourths cups of hot crunch against bottom and sides of nine-inch pie pan. Fill when cooled. Sprinkle rest of crunch on top of pie.

Home Steam Bath

The latest luxury to enter home portals from the outside world is the steam bath. Its installation may be elaborate, or surprisingly simple. New compact steam bath equipment comes complete in units which fit into showers, and do not change the showers' use. Included with steam producing and regulating essentials are moisture-and vapor-proof sliding glass doors, a seat which drops down from the wall, and even a light for the false ceiling which conceals pipe and wiring.

It may be that popular Scandinavian travel has helped to bring the steam bath home to us. In Finland, the sauna is a national institution. Every family has accommodation for it, traditionally in its own building detached from the house where hot stones produce the steam. New houses build to enclose the sauna, always a bath suite which requires plenty of room and an open balcony for the sun bathing which is part of the bath ritual no matter what the weather. Fine homes make the suite the steam room, a modern bathroom, a balcony and a room with long benches, chairs and a small fireplace, where the lengthy bathing procedure concludes with resting and eating hot snacks cooked over the flames.

Try out new furniture arrangement ideas the easy way—on paper, with Elizabeth Hillyer's FURNITURE ARRANGEMENT KIT. Everything you need is included—floor plan paper—126 furniture cut-outs, full instructions and suggestions. All for 50 cents sent with your request to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper. No-Trump Method

The non-forcing jump raise, our subject for the week, is invitation-al, not forcing to game. If you use this unusual bidding method, you respond with a jump to three no trump when you have the values for a forcing raise.

North's jump to three no trump shows strong trump support of four or more cards, with 13 to 16 points (counting distribution as well as high cards). In this case, North has 10 points in high cards and 2 points for the singleton.

South acts just as though North had made the "normal" forcing raise to three hearts. He goes on to four hearts with a minimum opening bid; he makes a slam try with substantial extra strength. South should not pass three no trump, since the response may be made on very unbalanced distribution.

South makes the contract by winning the first club in his own hand. He then leads trumps. West can win the ace of hearts and lead a low spade to East for a club return, but the ruff doesn't hurt South.

Declarer would go down if he won the first club trick with dummy's king. Then West would manage to ruff out the ace of clubs.

Pros and Cons

If you use the jump response of three no trump to show the values for a forcing raise you cannot also use the bid to show balanced distribution with 16 or 17 points. I have never been able to understand why any good player would want to jump immediately to three no trump with 16 or 17 points. I have seen players miss laydown slams this way, but I have never seen them gain anything.

Thursday, April 19, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent A15

To my mind, therefore, there is no disadvantage in treating three no trump as a forcing raise. Still, some people like the old habits and you must make allowance for it. Moreover, many players are used to showing a game-going hand with a jump raise; don't spring these new bids on them without careful discussion.

An occasional advantage of the jump to three no trump is that it shuts out a bid of three spades if East might bid three spades if North bid only three hearts. Then West would gladly raise, and East would make game at spades.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your right, bids one heart. You hold: S-K-Q-9-7-6-2; H-8; D-J-5; C-Q-J-8-3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. The jump overcall should be used to show a good suit but a poorish hand.

Advance Not Fresh, but Girl Prefers 'Hands Off' Policy

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a very fine job and I enjoy my work. The problem is not a serious one. It's just annoying.

A fellow whose desk is near mine can't keep his hands off me. He's not fresh — just sort of a pest. Whenever he talks to me he fingers my beads or smooths the lapels of my suit. Frequently he'll come up in front of his face. When they up behind me, lean over and put speak to him I have to kick him. His hands on my shoulders. Once in the shins to get him to answer, when he straightened my collar I think he actually dislikes our

I almost slugged him. Please tell me what to do. I know this will seem childish but it's getting to the point where I'm not sure I can control my temper.

—Touch Me Not

Dear Not: You needn't say a word. The next time this man places his hands on you, simply put your hands on his, remove them firmly and place them at his sides. He'll get the message.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do to get my husband to be a half-way decent father to his children? He sits at the dinner table with a newspaper propped up behind him. When they up behind me, lean over and put speak to him I have to kick him. His hands on my shoulders. Once in the shins to get him to answer, when he straightened my collar I think he actually dislikes our eldest son who is ten. The boy made a space ship out of balsa wood. I thought he followed the directions very nicely. His father tore the thing to pieces and said it was a sloppy job—that any 5-year-old could have done better. It hurt me to see the boy fighting back tears.

Our youngest (a girl of 4), won't go near her father. She is afraid of him. I don't think he has said three sentences to her since Christmas. What makes a father behave like this? Isn't it unnatural?

My husband reads your column religiously and says you are a smart cookie. He loves your crisp answers. Please say something to him. He'll take it from you.—D.D.

Alumnae Tell Future Plans

An 18-year-old freshman from Milwaukee, Miss Linda Lee Clark, a student at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, has been selected one of the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America." The sponsor of the contest, Glamour Magazine, announced the winners today.

Miss Clark will spend two weeks in New York City in June. She and the other nine winners will be featured in the August issue of the magazine. The ten will take part in a fashion show at Carnegie Hall and will be introduced to over 1,000 members of the fashion industry.

A panel of ten students and a faculty member selected Miss Clark as OSC's representative in the contest. She was notified about three weeks ago that she had been chosen as one of 22 semi-finalists.

A reception for Miss Clark is planned May 9 in Reeve Memorial Union.

The young lady's comment was, "I'm very, very excited."

Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Chapter has announced its schedule of coming events. The group will take part in the April 29 Pan-Hellenic Tea. Mrs. Lester Schulz will be the sorority representative at the 2 p.m. event, to be held in the Lawrence Memorial Union.

A rummage sale is planned May 4 and 5 at the Masonic Temple.

Miss Mary Magdalen Tock and Paul Eugene Peterson were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. Monday at St. Patrick Catholic Church, Green Bay.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Leonard Tock, 1024 S. Lawe St., and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Peterson, Sturgeon Bay.

Mrs. Dorothy Dunlap Green Bay, attended as matron of honor. Donald Tillman, Green Bay, served as his nephew's best man. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tillman, Green Bay.

The bride, a graduate of Appleton High School, is a student X-ray technician at Bellin Memorial Hospital, Green Bay. Her husband was graduated from Sturgeon Bay High School and is a surgical technology student at Bellin Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will reside in Green Bay.

Mrs. Kenneth Venderbush, assisted by Mrs. Robert Duthie and Mrs. John Hidde.

Mrs. Joseph Perez was named new treasurer. The chapter will be represented by Mrs. Robert J. Tucker at the June 24 to 30 national convention at Washington, D. C.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

WEDDING QUESTIONS

Does the maid of honor necessarily need to be the bride's sister? What are her duties and where does she stand during the ceremony? Where does the ring bearer stand and where does he march in the procession? There will be a flower girl. If one bridesmaid is married and her husband is an usher, are they together in the recessional? Do the ushers (only two) head the processional and where do they stand during the service? Do the bride's parents leave the church together? How about the groom's mother who is a widow? Who is the first couple in the recessional?

Louise Davis Answers:

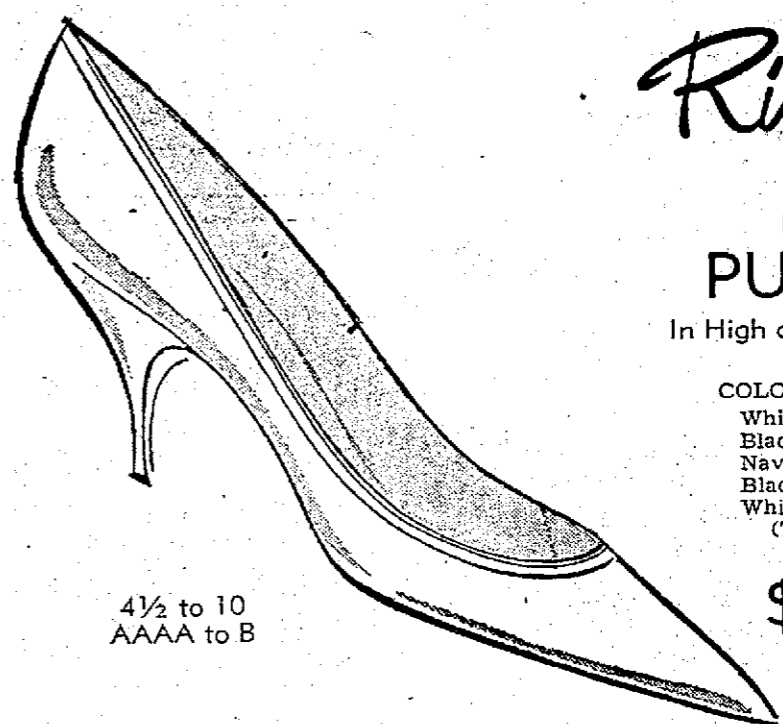

The maid of honor may be anyone the bride chooses, whether or not a sister. She stands next to the bride during the ceremony. She arranges the veil if necessary and holds the bouquet when the time comes. The ring bearer precedes the flower girl in the processional. At the altar, he stands close to the best man who can easily remove the ring from its cushion. He may march out with the flower girl or follow her. It is optional about a bridesmaid and her husband walking together.

Davis

er. Ushers head the processional either in pairs or single file. They stand to the right of the best man, facing the altar. The bride's parents leave the church together. The bridegroom's mother may leave alone or with an escort, preferably a close relative. Following the bride and bridegroom in the recessional would be the maid of honor together with the best man.

eight serving plates. Meringues may be used instead of short-cakes, if desired.

Place large scoop of ice cream in center of shortcake, turning white marshmallow streak up and centered to form white nose of bunny, if possible. Use chocolate chips for eyes, cinnamon candy for end of nose and pieces of white shredded coconut for whiskers.

To make ears, spear three miniature marshmallows on toothpick and insert two sets of these in place at side of each head.

Scatter shredded coconut around shortcake base to make a nest. The coconut can be tinted by shaking shredded coconut in paper bag with a few drops of green food coloring and a few drops of water. Serve immediately.

Council Elects Her on 28th Ballot; Radder and Schneider Defeated

An Appleton City Council deadlock on picking its representative on the planning commission was resolved Wednesday when councilmen gave a majority vote to Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings.

Stillings

Mrs. Stillings was elected on the 28th ballot, but the first one cast Wednesday.

Two Candidates Tuesday
The two candidates for the post Tuesday were Ald. Clifford Radder and Thomas Schneider. Neither could muster the necessary two-thirds majority vote, although Radder was in the lead most of the time and fell one vote short of a majority on 11 of the ballots. Schneider held the post for the last two years.

Mrs. Stillings received several scattered votes Tuesday, but never came close to challenging either of the other candidates. Wednesday Radder got four votes and Schneider received one.

Old Record Stands
Her election on the 28th ballot leaves unchallenged the council record of 102 ballots on any one specific item of business.

In August, 1938, former Mayor

Albert C. Rule was elected building inspector on the 102nd ballot. On Aug. 3 the council took 87 votes and failed to give any candidate a majority. On Aug. 10, 15 more votes were taken and Rule was elected on the final ballot.

Like Mrs. Stillings, Rule was not a candidate for the job on the first day of balloting.

Our Children

4-Year-Old Needs Playmate His Age

BY ANGELO PATRI

Timothy is four years old, a fine healthy, alert little boy who would not make you think of him as a nuisance to his mother all day long.

He wakes in the morning and is cross, she says. Then he wants something he should not have, as a cookie before he eats breakfast. When refused it, he cries. He keeps on whining, following his mother about the house and saying, "I want, I want."

One morning when his mother was up to her elbows in cleaning the living room for the evening party, he said he wanted to see Brindle, the dog that lived at Grandma's. Brindle was only 50 miles away.

"Don't be silly, Timmy. You see I am busy. Go play with your cars and let me alone. You know we can't go to see Brindle today. Now go."

Timothy raised his voice in a long, high-pitched howl and his mother, beyond all patience, spanked him and set him on a chair in the kitchen, where he continued to howl until he fell asleep with his head on his arms on the kitchen table.

"What can I do with him?" asked his weary mother.

Need a Playmate
It would seem that Timothy needed somebody to play with him and there is nobody handy. Father is at work and mother is too busy. If it were possible for mother to give him a bit of her time occasionally, letting the work go for a time, that might help. If he could get out to nursery school to associate with other children, that would be most helpful.

Little children of four years of age need companionship of their own set, as much as they need food and clothes. Play is the business of their life. It is what stimulates the growth of their bodies and minds.

Grown people cannot play with little children as they need to play. They cannot merge interests, thoughts and acts with a child as he can with another child. A little of an adult's sort of play goes a long way toward tiring him, while doing little for the child.

Doesn't Know How
"But he doesn't know how to play. I took him to the park playground and all he and the others did was shove each other around, yell, run a bit and back again and yell some more. They don't know how to play."

That is their play. Let them alone. Don't try to organize play for a four-year-old group. Let them enjoy each other's presence, jump and run and yell, get exercise for their bodies and minds. That will make them easier to live with, less demanding, less unreasonable.

But don't be so busy that they are overlooked.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. My Collie dog has developed a hernia after an operation. Is it necessary to have it removed?

Linda Peters, Staten Island, N.Y.

A. After abdominal surgery at least two layers of stitches are used to close the incision. Deep stitches, usually of cat gut, are used to close the abdominal muscles. These dissolve in a few weeks. The outer skin is sutured with nylon, silk or similar material and removed after a week or two. The veterinary surgeon has no control over the exercise a dog gets after an operation and occasionally inside stitches work loose. Sometimes muscles do not heal as expected and the cat gut will dissolve before healing is complete. Then a hernia or prolapse will occur. A hernia following surgery is not due to neglect but is one of those rare things which can happen. It is essential that the damage be repaired.

Cars Collide On Drew Street

Burt R. McIntyre, 21, 519 N. Drew St., received whiplash neck injuries Wednesday when his car collided with one driven by Armand Ellers, 19, 1000 N. Drew St.

The two cars were traveling south on Drew Street when Ellers stopped his car suddenly to avoid hitting a baby buggy in the street, police said. McIntyre, driving behind Ellers, told Appleton police his brakes did not hold when he tried to stop behind Ellers.

Game Violation Case Against Neenah Man

WAUPACA — A charge of shining deer against Clarence F. Gressen, 658½ Winnebago Heights, Neenah, was dismissed Wednesday by Judge Wendell McHenry in county court.

The case was dismissed by Judge McHenry before it went to the six-man jury which was hearing the testimony.

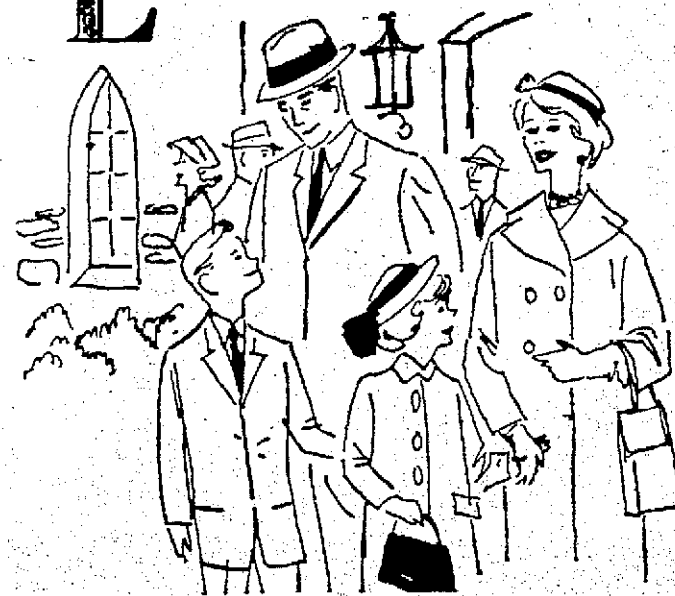

Edward R. Macklin, acting district attorney, said the charge was dismissed when Karl Farrell, Neenah, one of the witnesses, told the court he shot the gun on Oct. 19 near New London. Farrell was previously fined for shooting at game.

Other witnesses were Susan Allen, Arlyn Westphal, both of Neenah; Rex Oatman, county ward-en, and Alan Pope, conservation aid.

Empey Backs Federal Road Funds Plan

Outagamie County Board Adjourns Before Voting On Private Contracting

State Highway District Commissioner LeRoy Empey blasted today what he called inferences that the federal government attempts to "con" county highway departments into taking more road projects than the federal government will pay for.

Empey spoke at a morning session of the Outagamie County Board, which is considering a resolution allowing certain 1962 road projects to be let to private contractors.

No action was taken on the resolution and county board talks will continue this afternoon.

Empey's blast was directed toward Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton Fourth Ward, who, during an April 8 meeting with the Outagamie County Highway Committee, charged that the county departments were "baited" by the federal government to continue projects with a promise of matching funds.

Kloes said at the time that most of the "matching funds" come nowhere close to the actual cost of the project to the county.

Disburses Funds

Empey explained the state is the disbursing agent for federal

City Workers To be Paid for Going to Church

But Basic Services In Appleton Won't Be Stopped Friday

Appleton city employees will get time off with pay to attend church services on Good Friday, the council ruled Wednesday.

Workers may have off between 12 noon and 3 p.m., providing essential city services, such as police and fire protection, are not interrupted. Department heads were asked to use discretion in releasing workers so that not everyone is gone at the same time.

Any employee who does not return to work at 3 p.m. will not be paid for the time off he received to go to church.

Councilmen also adopted regulations governing compensation for overtime work.

Over time worked in any one pay period will be paid at the end of that period.

3 Month Limit

Employees may choose to take compensatory time off in lieu of pay, but the time off must be taken within 90 days of the work period in which the overtime was worked.

Department heads may allow employees to exchange days off, but the city will not assume any responsibility to see that workers repay each other the time exchanged. That will be an arrangement strictly between the employees involved.

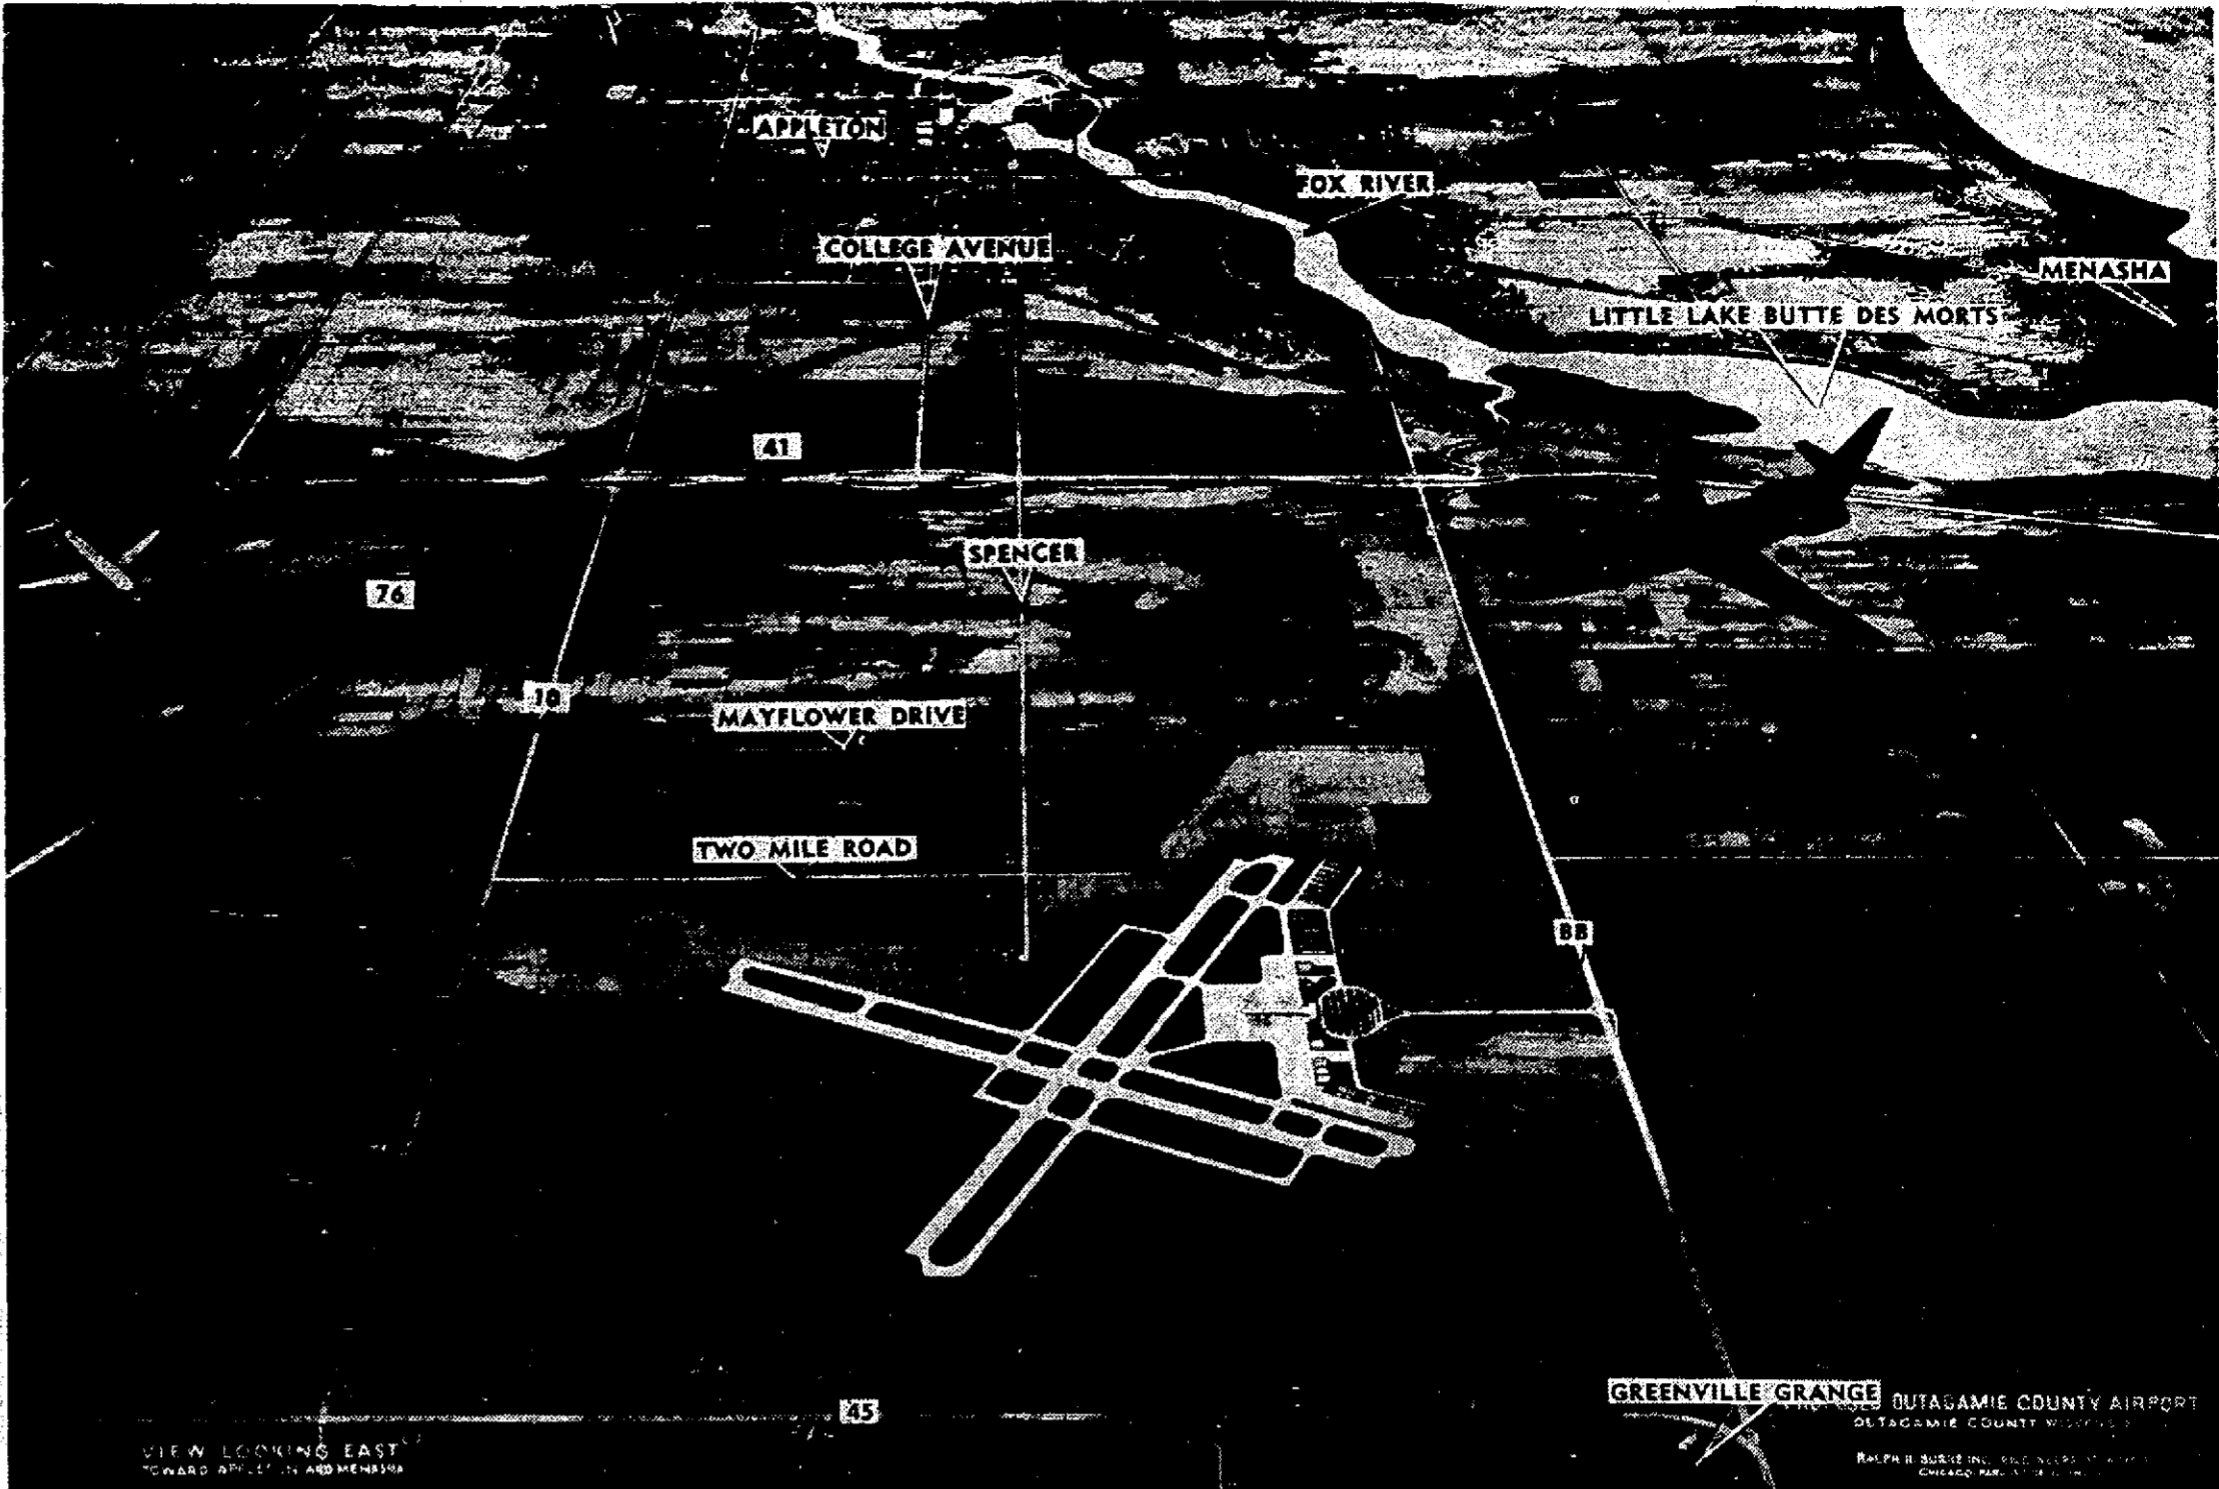

The question of overtime compensation arose because a policeman who is resigning turned in an overtime bill for nearly 10 hours that he worked in a period of about seven months during 1961.

Both the Good Friday time off arrangement and overtime regulations were submitted by the personnel committee.

Animal Welfare League Nets $400 From Sale

NEENAH — Animal Welfare League made $400 on its rummage sale held recently and has set its annual meeting for early in June. Officers will be elected then.

Money from the rummage sale will be used toward the $10,000 shelter building for animals the League plans to build on County Trunk G, just east of U.S. 41, in the Town of Neenah.

This is an Aerial View of the proposed new Outagamie County Airport as it would be situated in the Town of Greenville. The view is looking east toward Appleton and Menasha with U. S. 45 in the foreground. The Greenville Grange is in the lower right.

U. S. 10 marks the boundary on the left. The view shows the entrance to the airport terminal off County Trunk BB on the south side of the proposed site. The generally lighter shaded area around and at the end of the runways and terminal entrance make up the 1,390-acre airport site. Other highways and roads are marked in the photograph which was prepared by the engineering firm of Ralph H. Burke, Chicago. A master plan report was presented to the Outagamie County Board Wednesday.

County Board Hears Two Plans For New Outagamie Airport

Cost Would Not Exceed $2,350,000 Expert Says; Federal Aid Anticipated

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Two alternate plans for construction of a new Outagamie County Airport in the Town of Greenville at a final cost "not exceeding $2,350,000" were presented to the Board of Supervisors Wednesday afternoon.

To achieve either proposal, it was recommended that the county bond for $2.8 million — an amount which would be later reduced by reimbursement from the Federal Aviation Agency and sale of the present airport land.

The alternates were predicated on varying degrees of federal participation in the construction program.

The master plan report by Larry Donoghue, president of the Ralph H. Burke engineering firm of Chicago, indicated the proposed port could achieve a ranking with in the top one-quarter of all airline stations in the United States.

Except for a brief flurry of questioning, the supervisors heard the presentation without notable comment. No vote was taken, nor was one anticipated. Final action on whether or not Outagamie County will go ahead with port construction is not expected before the May board session.

Sleepy Supervisors

Several supervisors demonstrated their indifference to what may be one of the most progressive moves ever made within the county by dozing through much of Donoghue's presentation.

Referred to as "Plan A" and "Plan B" in the report, the alternates were designed, Donoghue said, to offer a proposal which could be pursued in the event limited federal funds are available.

The accompanying tabulation shows a comparison of costs for "Plan A" which contemplates substantial FAA funds and of "Plan B" which presupposes limited federal funds.

The principal difference between the two plans lies in the width and strength of runways.

Plan A Cheapest

Plan A will provide a 150-foot wide paved instrument runway of 6,300 feet with a parallel taxiway, a paved 150-foot wide crosswind runway of 5,800 feet with parallel taxiway, a 2,520-foot paved 50-foot wide connecting taxiway, about 50,000 square yards of heavy paved apron, 100-foot by 100-foot hangar for service, a 10,000-square foot terminal building and all necessary field lighting, entrance roads, parking lots, fencing, light plane parking apron space, navigation aids and other

Retail Stores End Thursday Night Hours

KAUKAUNA — The retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at a breakfast meeting Wednesday, voted to discontinue Thursday night shopping hours effective April 26.

Thursday night store hours were tried on a 6-month basis and a report by retail people indicated shopping traffic did not warrant remaining open on that night.

Stores will conduct a shopping preference survey for the next few weeks, asking people what nights they consider as best for shopping. At the conclusion of the survey, another retail committee meeting will be held to decide whether an additional night opening should be tried in fall and which night appears best, based on customer preference. Stores now are open on Friday nights.

City to Pay Firemen's Bills

Aldermen Claim Ending Outlays Morally Wrong

The City of Appleton will continue to pay medical bills for three injured firemen, when the bills are for treatment of injuries received in the line of duty.

Councilmen decided Wednesday it would not be morally right to discontinue payments now, even though any legal responsibility may have lapsed.

The three firemen, Donald Wiese, Hugo Strelow and Robert Hoffman, were hurt either at or on their way to fight a fire. They were injured prior to the time the city began to carry workmen's compensation insurance.

Board of public works members recommended that the city stop payments to the men until the state industrial commission rules on whether the city is liable to pay medical bills.

Two Objected

Ald. Ervin Bogan and Dorothy Stillings said they didn't think it would be just to stop the payments when the men were hurt in the line of duty and when the city has been paying the bills for as long as 20 years.

The question of continued payments arose when Wiese submitted doctor and hospital bills totaling $939.50. He was injured in 1949 and the city has been paying his medical bills since then. The council voted to pay the bills.

Combined Locks OKs Temporary Zoning

Board Acts to Prevent Commercial Construction in Residential Area

COMBINED LOCKS — The village had been under consideration for months.

The board adopted an ordinance governing the size of lots, the type of buildings permitted on lots, defining residential and non-residential areas and a few other facets of zoning. The ordinance, the board said, would be in effect until a complete zoning ordinance is adopted. The permanent ordinance is coming within the next two years, it was said.

The village president will appoint trustees to sit with him on a planning board to review building permit requests until a full zoning ordinance goes into effect.

Sewer Construction

Daniel Wallace was granted permission to hire Paul C. Grest Construction to do storm and sanitary sewer installation on a proposed plat, provided the city foreman is engaged as a full time inspector. Wallace will pay the street foreman $2.50 per hour for inspecting.

The village president announced that a Neenah firm would begin reassessment work in the community Monday. The firm will make recommendations to the village assessor who will have the final decision on assessment changes.

AVS Class Postponed

Tonight's session of the real estate class at the Appleton Vocational School has been postponed until next week because this is Maundy Thursday. The upholstery classes will meet tonight as usual.

No Worse?

Also, they added, it would be no more an eyesore than the village president's dog house, a welding and carpenter shop in the garage of another resident, a beer depot, or contractor's parked trucks—all of which are in the same general vicinity.

Williams and the village trustees said the proposed building did not conform to the zoning regulations under consideration. The potential builders replied that the village was discriminating against them by bringing up a zoning regulation.

Village Atty. Gerard Van Hooft indicated that such regulations

Combined Locks To Issue New Bike Licenses

COMBINED LOCKS — Village police will issue bicycle licenses for 1962-63 from 9 a. m. to noon and 12:30 to 4 p. m. Friday from 10 a. m. to noon and 12:30 to 5 p. m. at Ryan School, Monday, according to Ernest Danielson, chief.

These will be the only hours for youngsters to secure licenses unless they receive a new bike sometime during the year, advised the chief. Bicycles without licenses after Monday will be impounded for a time.

All bikes will be given safety checks. Youngsters are to have serial numbers of bikes written out to facilitate issuing licenses and recording information.

Committees of Village Board Are Reorganized

LITTLE CHUTE — Committees were reorganized at a meeting of the village board Tuesday night after two new trustees assumed office. President Paul Kostka announced the appointments.

Clarence Lamers will head the finance and relief committee, assisted by Rich Ebben and Jack Lamers. Ebben will head the street and bridge committee, assisted by Lamers and Edward Spierings. Lamers heads the buildings and grounds committee, assisted by Jack Metz and Joseph Versteegen. Metz heads the police and ordinance committee, assisted by Spierings and Versteegen.

3,000 Expected at Sunday Egg Hunt

The Appleton Breakfast Optimist Club will sponsor its third annual Easter egg hunt at 2 p. m. Easter Sunday at Pierce Park. About 3,000 youngsters are expected to join the fun.

About 3,000 plastic eggs, some especially marked for prizes, will be hidden in the park. Some 300 prizes will be given, including a wide variety of items such as books, cash and theater tickets.

The Easter egg hunt is open to all Fox Cities youngsters. Donald Massonette is chairman.

Spring is here, and even the plastic eggs have started hatching — toy ducks, of course. Robert Heinz, left, and Donald Massonette, members of an Optimist Club committee, were packing 3,000 eggs for an Easter egg hunt when they discovered they had an audience. The duck is a gag, but the Easter egg hunt, scheduled for 2 p. m. Sunday at Pierce Park and open to all Fox Cities youngsters, isn't.

Nicolet Paper Head Named to Milprint Board

Henry J. Fowler, president of Nicolet Paper Corp., West De Pere, has been elected to the board of directors of Milprint, Inc., Fred M. Stefan, president of Milprint, announced today.

Nicolet, one of the largest glassine paper producers in the nation, has been a subsidiary of Milprint since 1946.

Fowler, who joined Nicolet in 1933, will continue as president of the paper firm. Before his employment with the Nicolet Paper Corp., he was associated with the Glassine Paper Co., Conshohocken, Pa., and the Deerfield Glassine Co. of Monroe, Bridge, Mass.

Milprint is a subsidiary of Philly Morris Inc.

Board Authorizes Lake Access Site Purchase

Overrides Recommendation by Own Committee on Winnebago Rezoning

OSHKOSH — Purchase of the John S. Grundman property on Lake Winnebago in the Town of Vinland for a public lake access and parking area was authorized by the Winnebago County Board Wednesday afternoon in a 24 to 19 vote.

The vote came after 1½ hours of argument, protests from nearby property owners and an overriding of the Board's own zoning committee which recommended Board votes to rezone the property.

This was the first time the County Board overrode the recommendations of its own zoning committee. The motion to approve the zoning committee's recommendation lost in a 20 to 24 vote.

Total cost estimate for purchase and developing is $23,055, of which the state conservation commission already has approved paying half.

Raises Negro Question
During the arguments on the purchase, Supv. Gerald Nordquist asked whether the question was the Negro people who might come to fish in the lake and park their cars and boat trailers at that site. "It is controversial, I will grant you that."

Supv. Van Jackson, Omro, said he had been on the Omo Park Board which had to pass regulations because of litter and debris left by Chicago and Milwaukee fishermen.

Supv. Herbert Ilk, Oshkosh, promptly declared discrimination has no place on the County Board and Supv. Ray Toner, Oshkosh added that his remarks earlier during the discussion had no reference to color.

Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber cited that since Grundman still owns the property, the Town of Vinland Board has a veto power on what the County Board does. If the County owns the property, a zoning hearing still is required but the Town of Vinland Board does not have a veto power if the Board votes to rezone the property.

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh taverns and restaurants will be able to play their juke boxes during all business hours. The Common Council Wednesday, by a 5-1 vote, approved extending the juke box hours beyond the present 1 a.m. shutoff time. Council president Robert Stauffer opposed the change.

Passage of the new ordinance climaxed six months work by the Oshkosh Tavern League to change the old ordinance which permitted taverns to be open until 2 a.m. during daylight saving time but forced juke boxes to be shut off at 1 a.m. the year around.

All-night restaurants also will be permitted to play juke boxes during all business hours.

Vandals Damage Statue in Menasha
MENASHA — Vandals overnight severely damaged the Indian statue on the point of land owned by George Banta Co., immediately east of the Racine Street bridge.

The company this morning announced a $25 reward will be paid anyone furnishing information leading to the apprehension of the culprits. The informant's name will be kept secret.

Equal Chance for Each Child

Winnebago Juvenile Court Worker Outlines Activities

MENASHA — William McCarthy, juvenile court intake worker for Winnebago County reported on the past year's activities of that newly created position to the Community Council of Neenah — Menasha Tuesday noon at the Elks Club.

"The philosophy of the juvenile court must first be understood to realize the scope of this position created last January," the speaker explained. "The court assumes that each child has an equal chance for moral, social and economic development."

This new position filled by McCarthy was created by the Winnebago County Board upon the study and recommendations of the Juvenile Detention Study Committee, formed by the Community Council and State Department of Public Welfare. One of their chief concerns was providing a proper place to keep juveniles outside of the detention facilities for adults awaiting trial at the courthouse.

Outlining the work of his office McCarthy reported: "We study the information concerning a child referred to us by a social agency, law enforcement agency or parent. With the information provided we determine whether it is a case requiring the attention of the juvenile judge, temporary custody before disposition to court, to a foster home, or return to his own home."

Interviews
"The next step is a personal interview with both parents and the child, then with the child and parents separately. Here we look for such things as the child's response to questioning, how he reacts toward his parents, whether he is anxious or apprehensive about the situation in which he finds himself."

"Our recommendations are passed on to the judge, who may agree or disagree with them, but in this intake decision step he will decide whether a petition must be filed for a court hearing, can be handled informally, referred to another agency, or to dismiss the matter."

Processing requests for detention of juveniles, the speaker finds that there is immediate need for a place to keep the child if parents have no control, if the child is likely to run away and commit another offense and while it is determined if the juvenile should be detained. The state law is specific that "No child may be detained for over 24 hours without written order."

Lawyers to Offer Judge Roster

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County Bar Association's recommendations for appointment of a judge to succeed Judge Arnold J. Cane in County Court branch 2 will be forwarded Tuesday to Gov. Gaylord Nelson Tuesday.

James Sitter, bar association secretary and newly elected judge of County Court branch 3, said the three names will not be made known to the public or to bar association members.

Steel Stocks Continue to Run Uneasy

Gains Chalked Up By Oil, Motor, Tobacco Issues

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels continued uneasy in a mixed stock market which showed a slightly higher tendency early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .40 at 254.10 with industrials up .60, rails up .10 and utilities up .40.

Small gains and losses were scattered throughout the list.

Some Steels Gain

The top steelmakers were unchanged to a bit lower but some of the lower-ranking steels picked up. Oils and tobaccos were active and higher. Motors were up a bit.

Religious holidays — Good Friday when the market will be closed — and the Jewish Passover which began Wednesday night, tended to quiet the market spirit.

Bethlehem and U.S. Steel showed scant change. Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin dipped fractionally. Youngstown Sheet rebounded a couple of points.

Chrysler Up
A 1-point gain by Chrysler was the best among autos. Ford and General Motors gained fractions.

Tobaccos, which took losses earlier in the week, recovered nicely, Liggett & Myers rising about 2 points while Lorillard and Reynolds advanced a point or so. American Tobacco added a fraction.

Fractional gains were posted for Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texaco and Royal Dutch.

Xerox Spurts
Xerox spurted another 3 points. Texas Instruments moved up more than a point.

Gains of a point or so were made by Du Pont, Air Reduction, Phelps Dodge, Merck and Sears, Roebuck.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.95 at 692.96. Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were slightly higher. U.S. government bonds declined.

members is now taking place with the names of the three persons receiving the most "qualified" votes being forwarded to Gov. Nelson.

Success of Practice Alert Has Guard Officers Gleeful

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The reservist was 100 miles away when he heard the news and rushed back to Kansas City to take part in a surprise alert of the National Guard's 35th Division Wednesday night.

Within three hours after the practice alert was called, 95 percent of the 5,400 National Guardsmen in Missouri and 2,700 in Kansas had reported to their units.

"We feel it successfully demonstrates to our people in Kansas and Missouri that we can be ready in 66 cities and towns to help them in the event of any disaster whether caused by man or nature," said the division commander, Maj. Gen. Charles Browne Jr.

"Paul Revere"
He said he believed it was the first alert of a two-state division.

At the Kansas City Country Club, a cook and a bartender were summoned while a party of 250 persons was in progress.

First Lt. Elbert W. Warnick of Warrensburg, Mo., was driving to Kansas City when he was stopped by a highway patrolman and told to call his company commander. The commander of the second battalion of the 128th Artillery at Sedalia, Lt. Col. Walt Wilson, was at a smorgasbord dinner when a courier gave him his orders.

It was known the alert would be called, but the date and time were secret. Unit commanders were notified first by courier and an hour later a general alert was broadcast.

It was called "Operation Paul Revere" because it was called 187 years to the day of the storied ride.

The 35th, threatened by the Pentagon with reduction to brigade size, was gleeful over the success of the practice mobilization. The alert was planned in December, before the reduction was proposed.

"If the plans announced recently to eliminate this division were to be implemented, this capability would be lost to our fellow citizens in both states, said Gen. Browne. Once they reported to their units, soldiers were briefed on the alert plan and how they would move if the mobilization were real.

Girl Bumps Head On Car Dash

MENASHA — A 15-year-old Menasha girl bumped her head on a car's dashboard in a two-car accident at Washington and River streets about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

A Menasha police car took Diane Sheleski, 100 First St., to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital for examination. She was released.

She was riding in the car of Ralph M. Stahl Jr., 17, 924 Tayco Drive, which struck the rear of the car of Albert J. Meyer, 77, 2409 Hickory Lane, Appleton, which was halted for a railroad signalman.

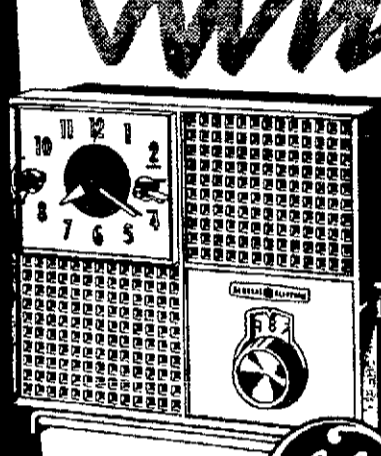

Conservation Group to Discuss Motor Trolling

OSHKOSH — Motor trolling will be the number one fishing question up for a vote at the Winnebago County Conservation county meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Winneconne High School gym. The vote on motor trolling will determine whether sportsmen want:

1. Present regulations continued.
2. Last year's reinstated with the addition of Bayfield, Douglas and Polk Counties.
3. No trolling on muskellunge waters.
4. State-wide trolling.

Byrnes Assails Kennedy for Steel Tactics

'Big Business No Match for Power of Big Government'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., says that from most economic viewpoints, a sigh of relief went up when the steel price increase was withdrawn.
"Yet, questions remain," Byrnes said in a "memo" to constituents. "The withdrawal of the increase took place only after the rawest use of governmental power."
"Steel managers were denounced in scathing personal terms by the President of the United States. An entire industry was immediately threatened with lawsuits, investigation and reprisals. The considerable power of big business proved no match for the awesome power of big government."

Management Prerogative
Byrnes, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, said that while most people felt the decision to raise prices was wrong, the decision was clearly within the prerogative of management operating in a free economy.

"For exercising its right to make price decisions, the full power of the federal government, coupled with strong abuse, was brought down on an industry," he continued.

"An economic decision, in other words, was made by government instead of management. Is the power of the federal government now to be used to dictate price decisions generally, and, if so, do we any longer have a free economy?"

Raising Business Costs
The Kennedy administration, Byrnes said, is raising the costs of doing business both directly and indirectly.

"Directly," he said, "it has proposed higher payroll taxes, has increased minimum wages and wages under the public contracts act and has continued extremely high tax rates by preempting all projected increases in public revenue for federal spending instead of tax relief."

of his staff officers on a four-nation tour of Southeast Asia. The Army declined to list the nations to be visited but said the group would return later this month.

Accompanying the commanding general are:

Col. Richard J. Ballman, Whitefish Bay, Wis., chief of staff; Col. Thomas J. Makal, Whitefish Bay, deputy brigade commander; Lt. Col. Elmer D. Quernam, Prairie du Chien, Wis., division logistics officer; Maj. Frederic Mumma, Merrill, Wis., division planning staff officer, and Capt. Charles Speger, Milwaukee, who is Smith's aide.

Brig. Gen. John A. Dunlap of Milwaukee, the assistant division commander, is in charge of the division in Smith's absence.

Earle Armstrong Picked

Winnebago Member Named to Wolf River Regional Plans Group

OSHKOSH — Supv. Earle Armstrong, Town of Winnebago, was elected as the County Board's member on the Wolf River Regional Planning Commission at Wednesday afternoon's County Board meeting.

He won over Supv. Al Becher, Menasha, 28 to 15. The Board elects one county representative and Gov. Nelson will name two from a list of four names to be proposed by the fair, park and conservation committee of the County Board.

Hiring of an architect for a preliminary survey to determine the cost of converting the children's wing at Sunny View Sanatorium into a 30-bed maximum care facility was authorized. The Board provided $2,000 for that purpose, this money to be added to that already appropriated by Fond du Lac County, joint owner of the sanatorium.

Mrs. Virginia Nolan, institutions committee chairman, said the maximum care facility at Pleasant Acres is filled and has a waiting list of three persons. Most of the applications being received now for Pleasant Acres are for maximum care.

The welfare director and the superintendents of both Sunny View and Pleasant Acres believe the county could save $200 per bed per month if it had its own maximum care facility. This would be a saving from that now paid to general hospitals.

It would also believe the pressure on the general hospitals which can use the bed space for emergency patients.
The Board opposed the proposed bill to change the zoning laws of the state and to seek the opposition of the Wisconsin County Boards Association to the bill, which comes up in May for a legislative council study.

Supv. Warren Miracle, Town of Vinland, zoning committee chairman, said the bill would put every town under zoning, would remove the veto power on zoning town boards now have.

Approval was granted the rezoning of property of John H. Doerfler east of the Valley Fair Shopping Center in the Town of

Driving Teachers To be Instructed In First Aid

A standard Red Cross first aid course for driver education teachers will be offered at the Appleton Vocational School, starting April 28. The course was required for driver education teachers by 1961 state legislation.

The course will meet from 8 to 11 a.m. on four Saturdays, April 28, May 19 and 26, and June 2. The teacher will be Erwin Lietz, a detective with the Appleton Police Department.

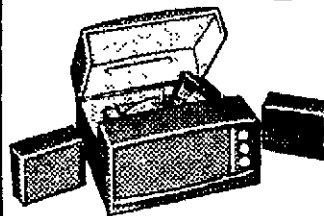

The 1961 legislation required six semester hours for driver education teachers — two in basic driver education, three in safety, and a standard first aid course. The AVS course will satisfy the first aid requirements.

Shiocton Girl Wins County Spelling Bee

Ann Van Patten, 13, is the winner of the Outagamie County Badger Spelling Bee contest held for public school pupils at the Shiocton Graded School Wednesday.

Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Van Patten, route 1, Black Creek, is an eighth grade pupil at the Shiocton Graded School. Her teacher is Mrs. Gladys Huettl.

She will represent Outagamie County at the state contest in Madison May 26. The winner there will represent Wisconsin in the national contest in Washington, D. C., June 4 to 8, with the national champion receiving a week in New York City with all expenses paid.

Bonnie Young, 13, is the second place winner for Outagamie County. She is an eighth grade pupil at Bear Creek Public School, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Young, route 1, Bear Creek. Her teacher is Norbert Kalinosky.

Resignation Of Librarian Is Accepted

NEENAH — The resignation of Ernest R. Kunert as director of the Neenah Public Library was accepted Wednesday by the Library Board of Trustees.

Kunert, 31, had been library director here since Sept. 1, 1959. Starting July 1, he will serve as director of Mead Public Library, Sheboygan.

Prior to coming to Neenah, Kunert was employed as an assistant in the Detroit (Mich.) library system.

In other action at Wednesday's meeting, the board discussed procedures to be followed in finding

Chief Says 32nd Answered Major Queries

Proved Ability to Mobilize Rapidly, Add to U. S. Strength

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The commander of the 32nd Division says that his Wisconsin Red Arrows have answered two questions of major national concern since they were recalled to federal service last fall.
"One," said Maj. Gen. Herbert A. Smith of Oshkosh, "it is possible to mobilize 13,000 citizen-soldiers and give the nation a combat-ready force equipped and trained in less than half the time it took during the Korean conflict."
"And two, a rapidly mobilized force of citizen-soldiers can be effective in adding to the nation's strength as a war deterrent, especially with the concept of counter-insurgency training, which can wipe out the cause of conflicts in challenged areas of the world."

Gen. Smith made the statement prior to his departure with five a successor to Kunert. It was indicated that candidates for the job will be contacted, interviews arranged and the best-qualified librarian nominated.

The board also talked of ways to get the library addition project underway, now that a referendum permitting a bond issue for it has been approved overwhelmingly by the voters.

Mayor Carl Loehning, who took up his duties Tuesday, attended the meeting and discussed pending business with members of the board.

Urges Rotary to Treat Spiritual As Reality

Rev. Wentz Claims America Rich Only In Material Things

"I invite you to join me in an experiment with the unseen, the spiritual," the Rev. Roger Wentz, pastor of the Immanuel United Church of Christ, Kaukauna, said to the Kaukauna Rotary Wednesday. "I invite you to live as if the spiritual were as real as the physical."

"One thing we cannot deny about our nation," he said, "is that we are a rich, poor people. We are rich in the things you can touch and see, material things; but we are quite poor in the things of the spirit, the unseen."

"What do you think would happen," he asked, "if some day I didn't answer the phone in my study, and when the person called back and asked why, I would reply, 'I was talking with God.' Who should come first, the person on the other end of the line, or God on the other end of the prayer?"

Eastern Culture Different
"The culture of the East is quite different from our Western culture," the Rev. Mr. Wentz noted. "There are great blessings in the blending of these cultures. Eastern culture makes more of the spiritual and less of the material. Our Western culture makes more of the physical, less of the spiritual."

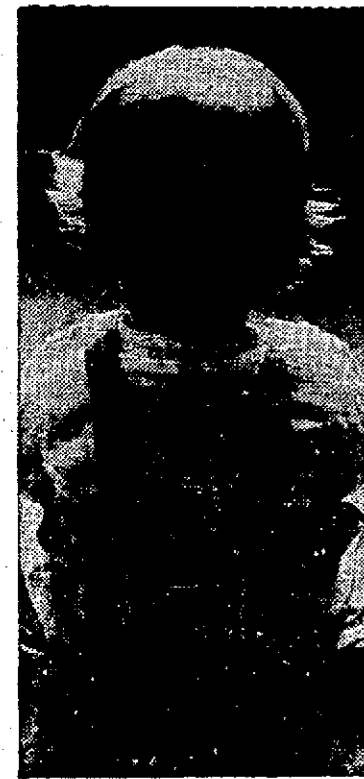

"I invite you to join me in this experiment of the spirit — regardless what others may think, let us live as if the spiritual is real, real and important," he continued.

"I invite you also to join me in talking about God and what He has done," he said. "Many people are involved in telling us what men are doing — the astronauts, the Kennedys. Who is telling what God has done?"

Power Belongs to God
"This is the job of those who know," he declared. "The churches are tracking stations with vital messages for all men. The core of this message is that power belongs to God."

"It may be the good news of an infant king born in Bethlehem,

This month a cancer volunteer will call on you and ask for money. Give him as much as you can. Only if enough people do, can the terribly expensive research that leads to a cure continue. And until there is a cure, thousands of people will be needlessly killed every year. In Outagamie County last year 113 people were murdered by cancer. As this is written — and as it is read — cancer works its deadly way through dozens of apparently healthy bodies. Guard against cancer with a checkup. Support cancer research with a check. Memories Linger After Fire Hits Casco House

Post-Crescent News Service

CASCO—Aftermath of a fire . . . The young mother who saved her neighbor's baby, broken fire hoses, football squad members rallying around their coach, worn walking up and down the street serving coffee and sandwiches and stories about the final chapter of Casco's famous "White House," are all pieces of history today.

The fire, which destroyed the century-old landmark here Wednesday leaving six families homeless in this small community of 500 was still smoldering Wednesday.

Casco volunteer firemen stayed at the ruins of the 38-room apartment building into the night to insure that the flames didn't break out again. Other firemen from Kewaunee, Luxemburg and Algoma left in mid-afternoon.

Residents of the small village were stunned when the word spread that fire had broken out in the attic of the seven-family apartment dwelling shortly after 9 a.m.

Mrs. Leon Gilson was caring for her child when she noticed smoke coming from the rooms above.

Plenty of water was available

"It is not what the world is coming to that matters most; it is what has come to the world that is important," he said.

Trust in God

"I invite you to share with me in trusting God," the Rev. Mr. Wentz continued. "How far will you let God take you — beyond the grave? That is easy to say — it is so remote. But what of your life right now? How real is the spiritual, how real is God, how real is His power in your life?"

He told the story of a little Irish lad, brought back from the brink of death by an apparent miracle, who said, "I always knew that Jesus was necessary, but I never knew till now that He was enough."

as the four fire departments set up pumps in Casco Creek, a stream that runs through the middle of town about 600 feet from the building.

Help Coach

When word of the fire reached Casco High school, 20 of the upperclass boys were released to help carry out furniture. Most of them were members of Casco's football and basketball teams and therefore, most of them headed directly for the Nolan apartment to "help out the coach."

Within three hours after the fire had started all six of the families had found places to stay and pick-up trucks lined the streets as volunteers began to separate the furniture and clothing that was thrown into one big pile on a lawn in front of the Casco Furniture Store.

The Nolans had accepted an apartment offer above the A. J. Dantine store just down the street. The other teacher, Marvin Bourgeois, had started to move his wife and two children to relatives in Algoma.

Kaukauna Mayor Pays Tribute To 2 Aldermen, City Attorney

KAUKAUNA — Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon paid tribute to three city officials, two aldermen and the city attorney, as they left their posts, one retiring and the others defeated in the April election. Aldermen and visitors gave all three an ovation for their service.

Bayorgeon first praised Bert E. Roberts, First Ward alderman, for serving the city for 24 years. Roberts devoted nearly one quarter of a century to serving the city, for which he gained very few pats on the back, but much ridicule and abuse, noted Bayorgeon.

He told of the many times when the retiring alderman and he failed to agree, yet both firmly believed they were working for the betterment of the city. "I salute 'Hardrock' Bert Rob-

Kaukauna Okays $2 Million Bonds

Funds Will be Used to Build Addition to City High School

KAUKAUNA — The common council together with Paul Kostka, Little Chute president, and town chairmen from the Town of Kaukauna and Town of Vandenberg, Peter Farrell and George Kroes, voted to float a $2,000,000 bond issue with which to finance an addition to Kaukauna High School.

Representatives of outlying areas were asked to vote on the resolution for the bond issue because they are part of the school district. A preliminary resolution was passed at the first April meeting.

Approval was given for the construction of a $100,000 addition to the Vocational School as recommended by the finance committee. Money for the addition will be taken from the bond issue as the school district will be repaying the city for short term loans granted for school improvements earlier this year.

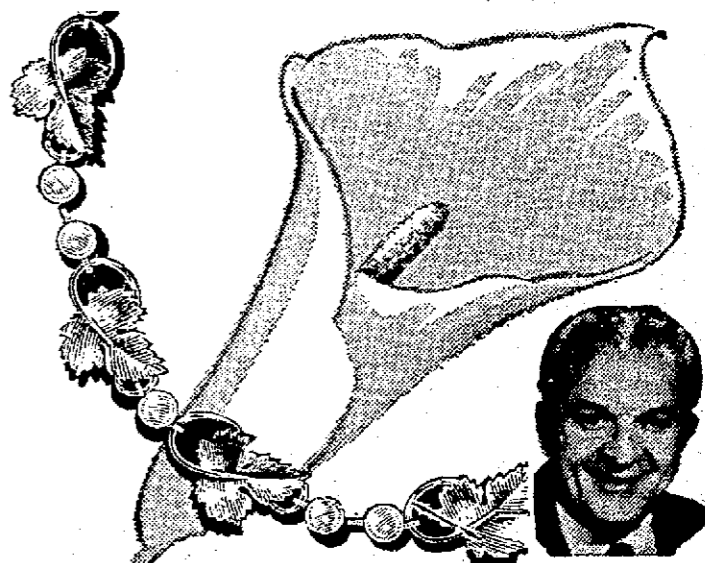

Petition Filed

A petition, signed by 10 residents, against rezoning of property in the Green Meadows plat from residential to central business was referred to the planning commission for a public hearing on the proposed change.

The property rezoning was requested by Joseph Van Daalwyk to permit construction of an office building. Objections were filed by residents on Main Avenue. The public hearing will be held early in May.

A request by Edward Pollach Sr. for annexation of a small portion of land to the city was referred to the planning commission for study. Permission to operate a cab company was granted Cyril Sturm after he files proof of insurance coverage with the city clerk.

The council voted to underwrite the cost of the Memorial Day observance, planned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a cost not to exceed $300.

Taxpayers Object To City's Tree Planting Proposal

Citizens at Public Hearing Against Specific Locations

About 25 Appleton taxpayers who don't like the way trees are scheduled to be planted in the terraces in front of their homes attended a public hearing during Wednesday's council meeting.

None of the objectors said they were against the trees as such or against the $7 per tree assessment, which includes the planting by the park department.

In fact, some said they were very much in favor of the trees and would gladly pay the $7, but doubted the wisdom of specific tree locations as marked on the curbs by the park department.

Some questioned the advisability of planting trees in undeveloped areas, because it isn't known now where driveways will be, and where curb and gutters have not been installed.

The idea of planting trees in terraces where property owners already have trees growing inside the sidewalk line, also was questioned.

Use Discretion

Arthur Jones, park board secretary, said he didn't think there would be any objections to any of the tree plantings if the city would do it free of charge.

Ald. R. P. Groh said the city should use great discretion about planting in the terraces, because even though it is public land many people believe anything planted in it is their personal property.

The list of streets where trees are supposed to be planted this spring was sent back to the board of public works after two votes were taken.

Ald. George Buckley, Harold Hammann and Alvin Tews said the people at the public hearing should be given a chance to speak so their objections would be known. After objectors were heard a motion to refer back was approved.

Against Program

Robert Schmidt, 111 E. Lindbergh, said the portion of the street he represented, from Morrison to Drew streets, is 100 per cent against the tree plantings. That portion of the street was withdrawn from the list of streets to be planted this spring.

Schmidt said many of the lots have trees growing inside the sidewalk line and that planting trees in terraces is an old-fashioned idea.

Dwight Fisk, 2212 S. Gladys Ave., said his street has no curb and gutter and he believes that soil erosion may damage the trees. Curb and gutter should go in first, he said. Some yards have trees along the sidewalk property lines and it would be in poor taste to plant more, he contended.

Richard Jahnke, 1005 E. Lindbergh St., said he believes the trees should be spaced so as not to ruin the looks of individual lots. He said there are 18 empty lots in the area where he lives. Nine already have two trees. Of the other nine, seven are marked for one tree each and two for two trees, he said.

He said his lot is marked for a tree 10 feet from his driveway. A lot across the street is marked for a tree two feet from the driveway.

Where there can be only one tree on a lot it should be centered, Jahnke said.

Roger Rindt, park forester, said the curb markings are not absolute, and can be changed so trees will not be too close to driveways and crosswalks. He said the park department is striving for 50-foot spacing so trees can get enough light and food for good growth, but will vary the spacing according to need.

Rindt said it is not good to center trees on all lots because this ruins the esthetic effect that even spacing tries to achieve. "We can't individualize each lot. We have to think of the entire street as a unit," he said.

One objector wanted to know if the city would pay for moving a tree planted in a new area where driveways have not been installed.

Ald. Donald Mueller said the park board has agreed to move such trees at no cost to the property owners.

Tree Planting May Start in 17th Ward

A pilot tree planting program in Appleton's 17th Ward may be developed as the result of property owner objections to tree plantings, expressed at a city council public hearing Wednesday.

Ald. Donald Mueller said property owners in his ward, with the exception of a portion of Lindbergh Street, are 100 per cent in favor of the tree program.

"They are patiently waiting for the trees," he told the council.

Ald. Fred Ziemann, a professional forester, suggested a pilot program in Mueller's ward to gain knowledge of how the tree planting program will and should be worked.

Explained Program

"As long as they want the trees let them have them, particularly seeing as the trees are ordered, and neither the trees nor the weather will wait for planting," Ziemann said.

Mueller said he held a meeting of property owners last week to explain the program, and started the ground work for it last February when the tree ordinance was passed.

"Please let us have our trees this spring?" he asked.

The list of streets to be planted was sent back to the board of public works because of objections from others.

ed for one tree each and two for two trees, he said.

He said his lot is marked for a tree 10 feet from his driveway. A lot across the street is marked for a tree two feet from the driveway.

Where there can be only one tree on a lot it should be centered, Jahnke said.

Roger Rindt, park forester, said the curb markings are not absolute, and can be changed so trees will not be too close to driveways and crosswalks. He said the park department is striving for 50-foot spacing so trees can get enough light and food for good growth, but will vary the spacing according to need.

One objector wanted to know if the city would pay for moving a tree planted in a new area where driveways have not been installed.

Ald. Donald Mueller said the park board has agreed to move such trees at no cost to the property owners.

Supreme Court to Get Road Suit

Waupaca County Board Fights Injunction Against Work

WAUPACA — The contractors' suit against Waupaca county highway committee and Fred Grunwald, highway commissioner, will be appealed to the Wisconsin Supreme Court, the county board decided Wednesday morning.

Judge Michael T. Sullivan, Milwaukee, issued a permanent injunction against the highway committee and commissioner prohibiting the county highway department from doing private work.

Edward R. Macklin, acting district attorney, told the board that, as the matter now stands, the highway committee and commissioner can be held in contempt of court if town chairman assign county equipment to do private work in their townships.

No Visible Lines
Grunwald told the board it is difficult to determine where public roads end and private roads start in the northern part of the county. He indicated that a town chairman could direct a piece of highway committee onto private property without knowing if it is private or public roads.

Macklin, who indicated that the appeal would be considered as part of his work as acting district attorney, maintained that the county highway committee and the highway commissioner were not knowingly allowing county equipment to do private work.

He contended that the town chairmen were leasing the equipment from the county and then directing the equipment to do private work.

Second Suit
Macklin also advised the board that, if the Supreme Court overrules the Circuit Court decision, the contractors can start another action against the town chairmen and "probably win the case."

Female Hormone Injections

Medical research reports offered new hopes today for male heart attack victims and babies born with inoperable heart conditions.

Dr. Jeremiah Stamler and associates of Chicago told a symposium on coronary heart disease in Philadelphia Wednesday that female sex hormones apparently can give many men extra years of life after a heart attack.

At the same time, in St. Louis, four Stanford University surgeons reported a giant step forward toward heart surgery outside the body, which they said they believed might help many of the 15,000 babies born annually in the United States with inoperable heart conditions.

Five-Year Study
Stamler told the Hahnemann Medical College symposium that he used a preparation of natural mixed female hormones, or estrogens, in a five-year study among 275 middle-aged men.

He said that among men who suffered a single, uncomplicated heart attack, only seven per cent taking the hormone died within five years, compared with 17 per cent not treated. Statistically, he said, this represented a reduction of 59 per cent in the mortality rate.

In St. Louis, the Stanford surgeons said they had removed dogs' hearts for as long as two hours, then replaced them without apparent harm to the animals.

Dog Tests Successful

"So far the experiments have been successfully carried out on four dogs, which are still alive from five to nine months after the operations," the surgeons told the annual meeting of the American Thoracic Society.

The report, presented by Dr. Edward J. Hurley, said the technique may be the first step toward operations in which a patient's heart is cut out of his body to correct serious heart defects.

Stamler, director of the Chicago Board of Health's heart disease control, said female hormone was used because women seem to have an inbuilt resistance to coronaries, at least until after menopause when their production of female hormone declines.

He said the hormone (trade name Premarin) produced feminizing effects in the men, such as breast enlargement, and made some of them impotent but it did not harm their health.

Resolution for Street Work Charges Passed

Appleton Sewer, Water Improvements To Get Hearing

A preliminary resolution to levy special assessments for sewer, water and street improvements on portions of seven Appleton streets was passed by the council Wednesday.

A public hearing will be held after the engineering department completes plans and specifications for the work. Property owners will be notified of the meeting so objectors may be heard.

Sanitary sewer and water mains are scheduled for Forest Street from Matthias to Buchanan streets, Harriet Street from Walter Avenue west to the end of the street, and Gillett Street from Lindbergh to Marquette streets.

Sanitary sewer only is scheduled for Gunn Street from Walter Avenue to the end of the street.

Graded, Graveled
The same portions of Harriet, Gunn and Gillett streets will be graded and gravelled.

Curb and gutter and additional gravel are scheduled for Byrd Street from Alexander to Bay streets, Bennett Street from Francis to Marquette streets, and Lindbergh from Owaissa to Ullman streets.

Lindbergh from Owaissa to McDonald is scheduled for concrete pavement.

The council also ordered sewer and water laterals installed to property lines on portions of five streets.

They are Kenilworth Avenue from Wisconsin Avenue to the Chicago and North Western Railroad right of way, Amelia Street from Kenilworth to Wayne Street, Lindbergh from Racine to Alexander streets, Pauline from Owaissa to Ballard road, and Foster Court from south of Foster Street.

Property owners have 20 days in which to have the laterals installed or the city will have them put in and bill the owners.

'Sleep Out' Fad Runs Into Law

The latest thing in spring high jinx for Appleton area school children has landed two more teen-age girls in trouble with the law.

Junior high school students, 14 and 15, told Appleton police Wednesday they decided to stay out all night Tuesday and not return home from school.

The girls were the second and third students to attempt the fad. A 15-year-old high school girl was found sleeping in a treehouse on Appleton's southside when she failed to come home from school Monday night.

Went to Church

The latest "adventurers" told police they decided to spend the night in a church and on the Riverview Golf Course after they grew tired of walking around.

The girls met two boys while walking in the Valley Fair Shopping Center and the four some drove around town until 9:45 p.m., police said. The boys let the girls out and the two went to the Riverview Lutheran Church, where they spent most of the night.

When the girls awoke about 5:30 a.m., they went to the golf course and slept in the shelter house, they told police.

Later in the afternoon, the girls went to a drive-in restaurant and met two more boys. They drove to one of the boy's homes where the four were found by Appleton police.

The girls have been turned over to their parents.

Supervisors Hear Port Plan Details

elements to achieve an interim passenger line airport.

Plan B reduces the scope of construction costs but, Donoghue said, will produce an airport which will be adequate for the next several years and which will be better than any existing facilities in the state except for those at Madison and Milwaukee.

He cautioned, however, that it will be "less expensive ultimately for Plan A to be constructed, as opposed to the construction of Plan B initially and then later enlarging it to provide the Plan A stage of development."

Site 'Excellent'
In both proposals, the engineers recommend placing the airport entrance on the south side of County Trunk BB. The engineers reported the 1390-acre Greenville site as excellent — even preferable to the one named as the top choice for a joint Winnebago-Outagamie airport.

Outagamie's present airport on County Trunk E and U. S. 41 was declared obsolete and unsafe for modern airline operation because of inadequate runway lengths and clearance. "Reconstruction at the present site will cost the county more than relocation to a new area," Donoghue declared.

Careful consideration of future airport needs was given in both Plan A and Plan B, the supervisors were told. The runway requirements have been considered as 7,000 feet with extension possible to 8,000. "The 6,300-foot runway and its accompanying cross are well within the requirements of the Convairs which North Central will put into service as soon as the airport is completed," Donoghue said.

Concrete Needed

"It is our judgement that a 6,300-foot requirement will be more than adequate for the next decade, but the rapidly changing design of aircraft and the growth of commercial aviation may very well increase the requirements to 7,000 feet within ten years."

The $3.8 million estimated cost of Plan A is greater than the preliminary estimates made in 1960 by Leigh Fisher and Associates. The early estimate was $2,327,000. This came about, the board was told, because shortly after the Fisher report was completed, North Central indicated it would use jet or turbo-prop aircraft in the near future. Because the kerosene fuel used by these craft will destroy bituminous pavement, it was necessary to adjust the plans for concrete.

"These items of increased runway length and strength and the approximate 6 per cent to 8 per cent increase in construction costs from 1960 to 1962 account for virtually all the differences in cost between the detailed estimates in this report and Mr. Fisher's preliminary estimates," according to Donoghue.

Need Airport
"It will be argued," Donoghue told the supervisors, "that there are too many airports in this area now. This is a false argument. You put an airport where there is a need for one. You have a need for one here." The report underlines the need. "Potential airline passenger traffic at Outagamie County and the surrounding Fox Valley area is of sufficient volume to place the proposed new airport within the top one quarter ranking of all airline stations in the United States."

Donoghue said when ports were first developed about 20 years ago, they were put in on a town basis — "where they put it wasn't a key factor." With the benefit of hindsight today and with the modern science of airport development it is possible to tell exactly where an airport should be located as based on potential traffic. "You have two large airports in your area now plus your own, which is inadequate. You may find, if you complete a new port, that service use at the other airports will decline," Donoghue declared.

Younger Estate Value Estimated At $45,000

OSHKOSH — Mrs. Myrtle Younger, widow of former Menasha Supv. of Schools Frank Younger, left the bulk of her estate to her three children, according to terms of her will which was admitted to probate Wednesday. Mrs. Younger died March 14.

Her home at 983 Hunt Ave., Neenah, and former home at 356 Second St., Menasha, are to go to her daughter, Betty Ellen Younger, who lives at the Neenah address.

Stock of First National Bank of Menasha is to be divided among the daughter and her two sons, Frank Jr., 2400 N. Drew St., Appleton, and Dean, 418 E. Marquette St., Appleton. Her remaining stocks are to be divided with 40 per cent going to Frank and 25 per cent each to Dean and Betty Ellen and 10 per cent to grandchildren.

First Congregational Church of Menasha was bequeathed $500. Half of the remaining estate is to go to her daughter and the other half divided between her two sons.

Pappas Pitches, Bats Baltimore To 1-0 Victory

Wilhelm Finishes Whitewashing Of 1961 World Champion Yankees

BY GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Milt Pappas pitched the first six innings of a 1-0 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday night and hit the game-winning homer for the Baltimore Orioles.

Pappas, who underwent an emergency appendectomy in Florida March 12, was removed from the game when his arm stiffened in his first starting assignment. A one-inning relief stint last Sunday was his only other appearance since the operation.

The 23-year-old right-hander gave up two singles and a walk through the first six innings in a brilliant duel with New York's Bill Stafford.

340-Foot Poke

But before he left the scene, Pappas powered a 340-foot homer into the left field bleachers with two out in the fifth. Milt's sixth career homer was the first hit off Stafford, who left the game for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Hoyt Wilhelm, who survived a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the ninth, completed the blanking of the world champions and dropped them from the American League lead. The Chicago White Sox, who edged Minnesota 3-2 Wednesday, moved into first place.

The Yanks put their first two runners aboard in the ninth on singles by Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh. The hit by Tresh bounced off the bag at second base as shortstop Jerry Adair was about to make a play.

Strikes Out Maris

Wilhelm, the veteran knuckle ball hurler, struck out Roger Maris. But while pitching carefully to Mickey Mantle, he issued a walk to load the bases.

Then, with 13,544 fans fearful of a Yankee rally, Wilhelm struck out John Blanchard and retired Bill Skowron on a one bouncer back to the mound.

The Orioles, who like the Yanks made only four hits, mounted a bases loaded threat in the eighth, but Wilhelm struck out and Jim Gentile hit into a double play.

Bases Loaded
The Angels got two hits off Joser Norm Bass in the first three innings. Then, in the fourth, Bass went wild and the Angels had the bases loaded on three walks with two out. A single by Billy Moran brought in two runs and Belinsky's bouncing single to right broke the tie.

The game drew a crowd of 7,055, the smallest so far at the new Dodger Stadium in Chavez Ravine.

Belinsky, 25, was drafted by the Angels last December from Rochester of the International League. He had a 9-10 record last season with Little Rock.

Detroit Man Sets World Records With Hydroplane
GUNTERSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — After almost two weeks of waiting for a break in the weather, Roy Doby of Detroit reached his Miss U.S. Hydroplane to world record speeds for the kilometer and mile Tuesday. Part of his run on Gunterville Lake near this north Alabama town was made in a drizzle.

Following conference among officials, Doby's clocking was set at 200.440 miles per hour for one mile and 198.168 for one kilometer.

Doby's efforts were sanctioned by the American Powerboat Association.

His 1-mile speed of 200.440 compares with the old record of 192.001 m.p.h. set by Bill Muncie, driving Miss Thriftway of Seattle, Wash.

Doby's 1-kilometer speed of 198.168 set the old record of 195.329 m.p.h. held by Jack Regas, driving Hawaii Kai III of Seattle.

Two Hard Throwers Assigned
BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Apparently when the Baltimore Orioles appointed Cal Ripken as "playing manager" of the Fox Cities Foxes, they weren't kidding. According to the current plans, Ripken will carry the catching load for the 1962 club.

Oriole farm system officials made the decision this week at their Thomasville, Ga. training base where the Foxes and three other Baltimore farm clubs are going through spring training drills.

Ripken got the call when it was decided that highly regarded bonus catcher Larry Haney could play Class A baseball. Prior to the decision, Haney was ticketed for the Foxes with Ripken scheduled to fill a utility role.

Plucked From Roster
The Foxes skipper is strong defensively and when he was a member of the 1960 Fox Cities Three-I League champions he displayed some clutch hitting ability.

The hurling staff suffered a blow when Gary Justice was plucked from the roster last Saturday but the strength of the team as a whole has been rapidly improving as the Class C managers, Billy DeMars of Aberdeen and Harry Dunlop of Stockton, are slicing their squads as they prepare to break camp.

Justice, who won seven straight games in the rookie league last year, was elevated to the Stockton team. He was perhaps the hardest throwing right-hander on Ripken's player roster.

There was a silver lining, however, as two other hard throwers were named to support Jerry Bean and Steve Cosgrove as the Foxes' current "Big Four". The two were Joe Rowden and Don Gallon.

Both hurried for Bluefield (Appalachian Rookie League) last season and while neither had an impressive record they indicated they could become winners as soon as they gain some control and experience.

The pair fanned opponents at the rate of one per inning but unfortunately they walked opponents at the same ratio, thus accounting for the poor earned run averages and won-loss marks.

24 Record
Gallon, after a very brief appearance at Aberdeen in the Class C Northern League, accumulated a 24 record at Bluefield with a 6.25 earned run average. He struck out 38 and walked 37 in 36 innings. Rowden had a 4-3 mark but a shameful 7.16 era. He fanned 47 and walked 49 in 49 frames.

The Foxes were also assigned their first genuine relief pitcher this week in the person of Larry Eck.

Eck is another graduate of the rookie league. He made only one start last year but was called upon 21 times as a rescue artist and seems to have found a home. He compiled a 3.51 era while gaining a 4-6 won-lost mark.

The problem of where the power...

Warren Spahn, Center, hugs Bob Hendley, left and Don Nottebart, right, after they pitched good relief ball to save the game and the win for Spahn. The Braves won, 6-4 over the San Francisco Giants in the home opener at Milwaukee.

Banks' Homer Gives Chicago First Victory

Ernie's 300th of Career Brings Cubs 3-2 Win in 10th

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks smashed his 300th major league homer in the bottom of the 10th to give the Chicago Cubs their first victory in eight starts with a 3-2 triumph over the Houston Colts Wednesday.

Banks also tripled across the first Cub run in the first inning as the Colts, who had beaten the Cubs three straight in Houston, made their first Wrigley Field appearance.

Banks' homer off reliever Dick Farrell on a 1-0 pitch tied him for ninth with Chuck Klein of the Phillies and Cubs in the all-time list of National League home run hitters.

The winner was lefty Dick Ellsworth, who scattered eight hits as he went the entire 10-innings.

Loser was Farrell, who replaced starter Hal Woodeshick in the eighth.

Woodeshick, who had whipped the Cubs 2-0 on April 11, started shakily. Elder White walked to open the Cub first. Rookie Kenny Hubbs singled for his sixth straight hit, but was wiped out by a double play just before Banks tripled across White from third.

The Cub 1-0 lead lasted only until the Houston fourth when singles by Bob Aspromonte and Joe Amalfitano, a walk, and an infield out scored a run.

The Colts moved ahead 2-1 with another run in the sixth on Al Heist's scratch single, Don Bud-din's single, Woodeshick's sacrifice and Aspromonte's sacrifice fly.

Chicago picked up its second run in the seventh as Moe Thacker singled and pinch runner Lou Brock stole second and scored on White's single.

Celtics Win Fourth Straight NBA Crown In Overtime, 110-107

Desperate Laker Rally Falls Short In Final Quarter

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics — possibly the greatest team in basketball history — wore their latest world championship crown with a cocky tilt today.

The crown wasn't anything new. The Celtics first won it three years ago. But the victory Wednesday night that earned them their fourth straight National Basketball Association championship was a special one — particularly appreciated because it was won the hard way.

A critical manpower problem brought on by injuries and personal feuds couldn't stop Boston from driving to a 110-107 overtime triumph over the Los Angeles Lakers at Boston Garden. Boston won the best-of-seven final series, 4-3.

Veteran Carl Braun perhaps summed up the feelings of the Boston players, old and young alike, when he bubbled:

"I've got permission from owner Walter Brown and I'm keeping my Celtics shirt. I may even wear it to bed."

CHICAGO (AP) — Toronto goalie Johnny Bower, injured in Tuesday night's Stanley Cup loss to the Chicago Black Hawks, was to leave Swedish Covenant Hospital Wednesday and return to Toronto by plane.

It was reported at the hospital that Bower, who injured his groin while blocking a shot, was in good condition but it was uncertain whether he would be available for Thursday night's fifth cup game in Toronto.

Toronto Goalie May Not be Available for Stanley Cup Contest

CHICAGO (AP) — After winning only one of seven starts on the road in a weird schedule, the Milwaukee Braves are out to prove they have been unintentional slumbering giants.

The Braves returned a "welcome home" salute by 30,001 fans by launching their 10th season in County Stadium with a 6-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants Wednesday.

Backed by a solid pitching performance by ageless Warren Spahn, the Braves rallied for four runs to overcome a 3-2 deficit in the eighth inning. The uprising lifted Spahn to his first victory in three 1962 decisions and the 310th of his fabulous career.

Spahn was given a 2-0 lead on a homer by Hank Aaron, a mighty poke with two out in the first, and a solo blast by Eddie Mathews leading off the fourth.

The Giants managed to collect only two hits in the first four innings, but struck for three runs on as many safeties in the fifth. Doubles by Jim Davenport and Jose Pagan produced one run and a homer by Tom Hallar was good for two more.

Settles Down
Spahn settled down after those three hits, retired the next three men and then got nine straight through the eighth.

Trailing 3-2 in the last of the eighth, Spahn led off with a walk and Stu Miller, an old Milwaukee nemesis, was called from the bullpen to replace starter Jack Sanford. Then the fun began for the Braves.

Howie Bedell, attempting to sacrifice, popped a bunt between the mound and the plate. Amado Samuel, running for Spahn, broke for second, but raced back to ward first as Miller waited to catch the ball.

Trying for a double play, Miller let the ball drop and then fired to first. The throw bounced away in the traffic jam and both runners were safe as Bedell was credited with a single, extending his hitting streak to eight games.

7 Teams Definitely Set for Opening Baseball Action

MENASHA — The Fox River Valley Baseball League will open the season May 20 with seven or eight teams and opening round pairings were drawn at a meeting of team representatives at the Menasha Eagles' Club Wednesday night.

Seven teams are definitely set for the season and the eighth, Morrison, is set to go but several other teams insisted that show-er facilities be installed at the Morrison park before they will play games there.

In a motion, approved by a 6-0 vote, secretary-treasurer Frank Warner was instructed to contact Morrison officials and give them the alternatives of installing the showers or playing in the league as a road team only.

Opening Pairings
Opening day pairings include Fond du Lac at Green Bay, Menasha at Kaukauna, Harrison at Little Chute-Kimberly and Morrison at Freedom.

Kaukauna will be allowed to play a major share of its games at home in the first part of the season because the diamond will not be available after July 15. Construction will be underway for a new stadium at Kaukauna then.

Umpires fees were raised to $11 and $9 per game.

The league voted by a 4-3 margin to drop the rotation plan for the annual all-star game. The game will be awarded to the team winning the first half championship.

Neenah Scores Convincing Win Over AHS, Fondy

Appleton Places Third in Triangular Track Meet

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
FOND DU LAC — Neenah's Rockets flashed mid-season form here Wednesday afternoon as they ran up a triangular track victory over Appleton and Fond du Lac.

The final scores were Neenah 77½, Fond du Lac 44½, and Appleton 42.

Appleton, which had finished ahead of Fond du Lac in the Manitowoc indoor meet nearly two weeks ago, fell victim to the jinx of the Fond du Lac track and allowed Fondy to pass them on the results of the final two events, the broad and high jumps.

Only Phil Nordgren and Dick Bunn registered wins for AHS. Bunn sped to victory in the 440 in 55 seconds while Nordgren captured the featured mile run in 44.5.

Nordgren topped both Fond du Lac's Dave Sengler and Neenah's Jim Hammill. Hammill, who was ill earlier this week and the latter part of last week, was expected to finish with a tremendous "kick" but waved off in the final lap and gamely tromped home in third place.

Paced Himself
Nordgren paced himself well and apparently would have been waiting for Hammill's kick. The Appleton runner exploded down the stretch and still had some stamina stored up at the finish line.

Winn Zimmerman led the winners by piling up victories in three events and then anchored the 880-yard medley relay team as they captured the event in 1:35.8. The sturdy Zimmerman won both the 100 and 200 in addition to firing the top discus mark of 133 feet, 7 inches. Winn covered the 100 yards in 10.5 and the 220 in 23.2.

Neenah turned in four school record-shattering performances. Burton leaped 6 feet, 1¾ inches to break his own standard set in the Mid-Eastern Conference meet last year of 6 feet ½ inch.

The other school marks that fell were set in the 220, broad jump, and high hurdles. Zimmerman shaved a tenth of a second off the previous mark in the 220 with 23.2. The former mark stood since 1927.

Harold Thomas raced the high hurdle distance in 16.1, the best by a Neenah competitor since the hurdles have been raised to their current height. Neubauer bettered his previous mark in the broad jump by an inch with his 22 feet and one inch Wednesday.

Hits First Hurdle
Neenah hopes dimmed in the early high hurdle event when Neubauer, rated the No. 1 Neenah hurdler and one of the Rock

Detroit Bowler Wins Second ABC Pin Crown

Comes Off Sick Bed To Capture Seven Straight Matches

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Billy Golembiewski of Detroit, sick with pneumonia two weeks before the start of the tournament, looked quite healthy Wednesday night as he charged to his second American Bowling Congress Masters championship with a record 223 average.

In becoming the second two-time Masters titlist, the 32-year-old professional went undefeated in seven matches. He also was unbeaten in seven matches when he won the title at Toledo in 1960. Only previous bowler to take the crown twice was Dick Hoover of St. Louis.

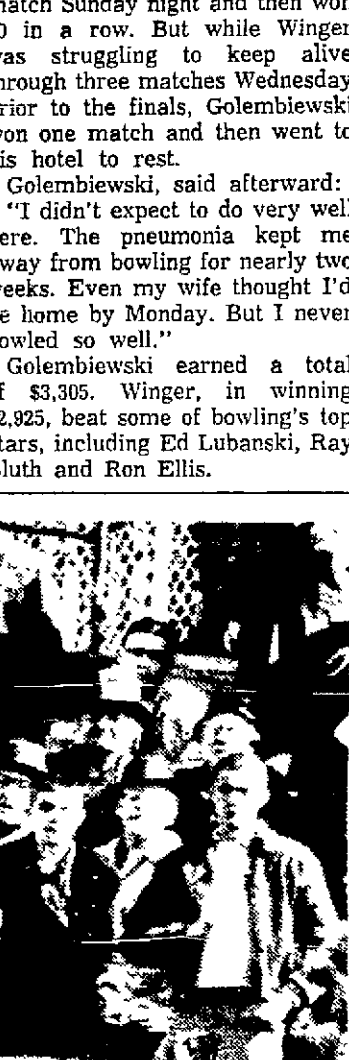

Golembiewski had too much experience and rest for Ron Winger of Van Nuys, Calif., his 20-year-old opponent in this title event. He beat Winger 950-851 over the four-game route.

The California youth, youngest bowler ever to reach the finals, took a 214-212 lead over Golembiewski after the first game. But "Billy G" went ahead by seven pins in taking the second game, 246-237. The Detroit star clinched the match with a 255 third game to Winger's 201. In the last game Golembiewski shot 237 and Winger 199.

The youngster lost his first match Sunday night and then won 10 in a row. But while Winger was struggling to keep alive through three matches Wednesday prior to the finals, Golembiewski won one match and then went to his hotel to rest.

Golembiewski said afterward: "I didn't expect to do very well here. The pneumonia kept me away from bowling for nearly two weeks. Even my wife thought I'd be home by Monday. But I never bowled so well."

Golembiewski earned a total of $3,305. Winger, in winning $2,925, beat some of bowling's top stars, including Ed Lubanski, Ray Bluth and Ron Ellis.

Celtics Cop Fourth Title

Bob Cousy, Bill Russell, Frank Ramsey and Tom Heinsohn. Then in the fourth period Tom Sanders, Jim Loscutoff and Heinsohn fouled out, Ramsey following in the opening seconds of the five-minute overtime session.

Unsung Sam Jones, however, came up with five points in the overtime period and Russell added four. That gave Jones 27 for the night, 25 of them after the first half.

Russell's big contribution was a fantastic 40 rebounds. He also scored 30 points.

Elgin Baylor of the Lakers, who was high man with 41 points, received high praise from the Boston players.

"That Baylor had the most fabulous series of anybody I ever saw," said Cousy. "It seemed like he shot about 88 per cent for the series."

Cardinals Pound Out 18 Hits, Hand Mets Sixth Straight Loss

Kenny Boyer Smashes Two Homers As St. Louis Posts Fifth Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—The unbeaten St. Louis Cardinals pounded out 18 hits, including four home runs, in handing the New York Mets their sixth straight defeat Wednesday 15-5.

Kenny Boyer walloped two home runs and Julian Javier and Carl Warwick hit one apiece as every player in the St. Louis starting line-up hit safely.

It was the Cardinals' fifth straight victory.

Stan Musial collected two hits and drove in two runs to give him at least one safety in every game he has played this season. Stan now has a lifetime total of 3,410 hits, only 20 shy of Honus Wagner's all-time National League record. Musial needs just two more total bases to tie Babe Ruth for second place in the all-time list, behind Ty Cobb.

Early Lead

Staked to an 8-0 lead in the first five innings, Larry Jackson coasted to his second triumph, with ninth inning help from Ray Sadecki. He permitted five hits, and all New York's runs, three coming on pinch hitter Ed Bouchee's home run with two on in the fifth. Frank Thomas homered with none on off Sadecki in the ninth.

Sherman Jones was the starter and loser. The tall right-hander was tagged for eight hits and six runs in four innings to absorb his second defeat. Jones managed to keep the Cardinals from scoring in the first two innings, but in the third singles by Jackson, Don Landrum and Bill White followed by Musial's scoring fly gave the Red Birds a 2-0 lead.

The Cardinals scored four more in the fourth, without getting a solid blow. Infield hits by Boyer and Julio Gotay, a walk a bunt single, a sacrifice fly and one of three New York errors accounted for the runs.

Boyer's first homer came in the fifth, on top of Musial's single. His second came in the seventh, with nobody on base.

Plans Call for Ripken to Do Most Catching er is going to come from may have been answered when Jimmie Norwood was assigned to play first base. Norwood, a big boy who hails from Mangum, Okla., batted only .233 in 26 games with Lessburg (Class D Florida State League) last year before going home due to an injury. His spring training work indicates he is ready to go again at full speed.

Infield Boost

The infield, which had been pretty leaky up to now, received a big boost when Bob Litchfield was inserted at shortstop. Litchfield should hold his own in living up to the reputations of such former Foxes' shortstops as Zor-Veras, Bob Saverine, and Dick Yench. He hit .291 while leading rookie league shortstops in fielding last year.

The outfield, likewise got a shot in the arm when bonus star Bill Stanley was placed in the lineup. The 21-year old Stanley was signed only last month by scout Cy Morgan for one of the highest Oriole bonuses since the new bonus rule went into effect. Stanley will probably be in left field with Dan Markowski in right.

Markowski, Litchfield, Gallon and Bean are all Baltimore boys signed by scout Walter Youse.

Redlegs Clobber Los Angeles, 14-0

Jim O'Toole Allows Only Four Hits, Pinson Big Gun

CINCINNATI (AP)—Jim O'Toole gave up only four hits Wednesday night and Vada Pinson drove in five runs as the Cincinnati Reds clobbered the Los Angeles Dodgers, 14-0.

O'Toole struck out nine and didn't walk a man. At one stretch he retired 17 men in a row.

Three of Pinson's runs batted in came on a home run in the first inning after rookie Joe Moeller faced. The 19-year-old Moeller was the first of four Dodger pitchers to get a battering from the Reds. He was followed by Ed Roebuck, Phil Ortega and Stan Williams.

Jerry Lynch also homered for the Reds off Williams.

Appleton Babe Ruth League Registration Starts Saturday

Appleton Babe Ruth League registration will begin Saturday afternoon.

Candidates between the ages of 2 to 4 p.m. The second and final registration is set for the same hours April 28.

The South Side Athletic Club as the first day for tryouts and the league has set May 5 May 22 as the first day for the draft of players. May 12 has been set as the date for the declaration of options by the managers. June 4 will be the deadline to cut the player rosters to 15 players. June 10 is the season opening date.

Lee Jensen, a former Appleton resident who has returned to practice law here, will be a coach and will serve as player agent. League president Bob Beltrone is still accepting applications of those wishing to umpire.

The league has formed an auxiliary. Any women who wish to help out with the Babe Ruth program should contact Beltrone.

So we told him how Allen-Edmonds uses only the top 10% of fine shoe leather, cut with the grain to prevent pinching or burning. Then we spoke of their many fine shoe features like all-round stitching without nails, and U-turn flexibility. Finally we just put a pair on him. That did it! He's been singing praises ever since. Pop Bunt Decision Touches Off Controversy, but Braves Dont Care we needed."

Eddie Mathews, the Braves' slugging third baseman who drove in three runs with a solo homer in the fourth and a two-run double in the eighth, echoed his manager's sentiments.

"I just hope we can keep going now," Mathews said. "Too many of us have been in an early season slump. But it's a long season and we're going to win plenty."

Although they collected only 7 hits, the Braves rejoiced in a confident fashion in the clubhouse after rallying to give Warren Spahn, who will be 41 Monday, his first victory of the year and Bedell reaching first safely. If the Braves didn't mind. After winning only one of seven starts on the road, they figured they were on the way at last.

"We needed this one, and may be we've started to hit," said Manager Birdie Tebbetts. "We had to do it the hard way, coming from behind in the late innings, to face the left-handed hitting Howie Bedell."

Bedell popped a bunt midway between the mound and the plate. Miller, trying for a double play, let the ball drop and then fired to first as Amado Samuel, running for Spahn, retraced his steps, and Bedell and two Giant fielders reached the bag almost simultaneously.

The ball went through the jam, Samuel going on to second and Bedell reaching first safely. If the throw had been caught by a fielder, an easy double play would probably have resulted. Instead, a sacrifice, an intentional walk, Mathews' double, another intentional pass and Frank Bolling's single gave Milwaukee four runs.

"It was an instinctive play, but Miller forgot about Bedell's speed," said Tebbetts.

"It was a good play that didn't work and I should have been charged with an error as the ball hit Bedell's back," said Miller. "I had the throw beaten and Samuel just ran to second," said Bedell.

Hopeful Look Enhances Theater on Broadway

Big Plans Underway, Including Musical on Noted Gate-Crasher

BY JINGO

Hope springs eternal, they say, but it really bounces on the Great White Way. No matter how many productions fail to do much more than "return the nut," if that, the angels are ready for a flier the next time around.

The harps are really twanging and the sounds of the music are hopeful.

Rex "Fair Lady" Harrison is eager to get back in front of the footlights, which is good news. He's talking with producer Freddie Brisson about a Leonard Spigelglass comedy "Remedy for Winter" — a good title for a spring opening. However Rex won't sign unless his new bride, Rachel Roberts, is his leading lady.

Diane Lampert and Peter Farrell as writers and Sammy Fain as the song writer have to be given points for originality. They're preparing a musical comedy about birth control.

A line about plans being discussed with Paul Gregory may be good news for the Fox Cities. Susan Hayward is said to be urging Gregory to produce for her an adaptation of Thomas Wolfe's novel, "The Web and the Rock." Several of Gregory's productions have passed through the Fox Cities on their way to Broadway. Why not this one?

Freddie Brisson is one of the most active producers. He's contacting Anne Bancroft to play Fanny Brice in his "A Very Special Person" play of Fanny's life. He wants Paul Newman to play Fanny's favorite cat, Nicky Arnstein.

Remember Berman?

Brisson also is acquiring properties for the future. He snagged the stage and film rights of the life of Stan Berman. Berman? You must remember him. He was the hit of the Oscarcast, the gate-crasher who befuddled everyone but Bob Hope.

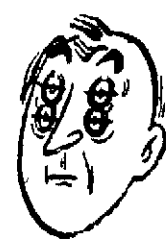

The Academy was only one of his successful exploits. He became a part of the Kennedy party at the inauguration and entertained the church on Lucille Ball's arm at her recent wedding.

Brisson is having the words and music written by Jule Styne and Bob Merrill with Jerome Robbins doing the choreography. He's after Danny Kaye for the title role of "The Gate-Crasher."

Musical on Barnum
Big Daddy Al Hirt may be on his way to Broadway too. Producer Alfred Dellagere saw his trumpet act on TV and started after him for the title role of the Broadway-bound musical, "Barnum," who did a great deal of horn blowing, if memory serves aright.

Perhaps the Broadway show with greatest potential technical difficulties is the refuge from TV taken by Martha Raye. She's in rehearsal in the role of Polly Adler in the musical based on "Madame Adler's autobiography 'A House Is Not a Home.'"

Karl Malden, one of the last weekend's late show stars, has finished his Hollywood stint with Show, Channel 2, Saturday May Rosalind Russell in "Gypsy" and 5. The program of six numbers heads back to New York to be-

It's Back Again

Newest 'State Fair' Colorful, Melodic

BY HARRY KURTZ

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
There are certain movies which never wear out. "State Fair" is one of them.

Different versions of the film have been around before and others versions will probably come again.

The newest version opened at Appleton's Viking Theater Wednesday.

It's a loud, noisy, colorful and fairly melodic mixture, long on gaiety, but a bit short on plot.

It goes something like this. Dad Frake (Tom Ewell) has a prize pig to exhibit at the state fair. His wife (Alice Faye) has some prize mince meat.

Their son Wayne (Pat Boone) has a pet hot rod to enter in the race. Only Marge (the daughter, Pamela Tiffin) isn't in anything but where the boys are.

Wayne's hometown girl won't go and Marge's steady and stodgy boyfriend, Harry, has to stay home so he can buy a cream separator.

Go To Fair
Anyway, they all go to the state fair and Wayne meets Emily (Ann - Margaret) and Marge meets Jerry and you can take it from there.

Rodgers and Hammerstein wrote the music for it quite a while ago and probably every body can hum "It's a Grand Guy"

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Zane Grey Theater repeats a 1959 story which was perhaps the best thing Joan Crawford ever did on television. She plays a wife and mother who returns to her home after the Civil War — and tries to take it back from the man who now owns it, by simply squatting in the living room.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Sing Along With Mitch uses cities, a Napa Valley wine fiesta, a concert and bridges as devices on which to hang its familiar melodies this week. (Color)

9-10 (Channel 2) — CBS Reports winds up its two weeks of examining the income tax situation with an hour devoted to the government's efforts at plugging the loopholes in the tax law. The program notes that one of the biggest loopholes — the oil depletion allowance — is not covered at all in the present bill.

7-8 (Channel 2) — Frontier Circus introduced us to another of the early Western religious sects and the problems they caused. This is the Duncanites, a strictly fictitious group. The son of one of their leaders is accused of murder but since this is a non-violent group, the circus folks are sure he's innocent.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — There's very little medicine in Dr. Kildare but plenty of romance. Jim meets a wealthy girl (Ellen Wildard) and the attraction is mutual and maximal. They have a passionate clinch scene on a beach which is enough to make an interne into a man overnight.

8-8:30 (Channel 11) — Golfers will enjoy tonight's My Three Sons more than people. Robbie (Don Grady) turns caddy to earn money for a "butterfly" — an automobile part he needs — and has the bad fortune to draw a hotheaded pro as his client.

Actress Nan Martin

Prepares for 3 Roles

NEW YORK (AP) — Three roles are keeping Nan Martin on the move.

The actress is to portray Portia in the Shakespeare Festival in Central Park in June, following an appearance in "Uncle Vanya" at Washington's Arena theater. After that she goes into trout tour of "A Short Happy Life," play based upon the works of Ernest Hemingway.

Night for Singing." But if R and H had to depend upon this show for their reputation, they'd be as forgotten as Landon and Knox.

There are some fine scenes in the film. Probably the funniest is where the mince meat judge (Wally Cox) samples and samples (Pamela Tiffin) isn't in anything but where the boys are.

The film bears some resemblance to the novel by Philip Stong. There are changes: the fair shifts Des Moines to Dallas (which is probably just as well).

The film does one thing admirably — and that's to catch the spirit of the fair. Through music, lighting and through sound effects — the essence of the state fair is there. But one question: Why does Harry always have to be the fall body can hum "It's a Grand Guy"

Shareholders OK American, Eastern Merger

CAB Approval Still Needed; Hearing Scheduled for May 10

WILMINGTON, Del. — Shareholders of American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines overwhelmingly approved a proposal to merge the two companies, to become the nation's largest air carrier.

The votes came within an hour of each other at the two companies' annual meetings in Wilmington. Still required is a Civil Aeronautics Board ruling on the merger.

The CAB will begin hearings on the proposal May 10, and officials of both airlines said they hope for a decision by the end of the year. The proposal was announced Jan. 23.

In Washington, Trans World Airlines told the CAB yesterday that a combination of American and Eastern would represent an unprecedented concentration of power in the industry. E. O. Cocke, senior vice president, industry affairs, of TWA, said the proposed merger is contrary to the public interest and should be disapproved by the CAB.

Stock Arrangement

Under terms of the merger agreement, Eastern stockholders would receive 1.3 shares of American common, plus a five-year stock warrant, for each Eastern share. Each warrant will entitle the holder to buy one-third share of American common at the rate of $28 a full share. The merged carrier would be called American Airlines, Inc.

There are about 8,275,785 American shares and 2,324,616 Eastern shares outstanding.

At the American stockholders' meeting, C. R. Smith, chairman and president, said the merger should produce annual savings of more than $50 million in "a reasonable time" and would reduce future capital requirements by more than $75 million.

Smith would be chairman and chief executive officer of the merged carrier. Malcolm A. McIntyre, president of Eastern, would be president.

Stop Duplication

At the Eastern meeting, McIntyre told questioner Wallace Haber much of the economy resulting from the merger would come from the elimination of duplicate facilities. "But for the most part, the economy will consist of not building facilities that have been planned," He added the airlines have "no plan or intention to close either Tulsa or Miami as overhaul bases."

On the basis of passenger miles flown annually, American is the nation's second largest airline and Eastern the fourth largest. Together they would account for about 35 per cent of domestic airline traffic. United Air Lines, which has been the largest since its merger with Capital Airlines last year, carries about 25 per cent of the nation's domestic passengers.

YOUR BEST BET—A Want Ad

CARD OF THANKS

BRUGGER — The kindness and sympathy extended to us by our relatives, many friends and neighbors is a deep comfort. Our sincere and heartfelt thanks to each of you for your comforting words, cards of condolence and beautiful flowers at the sad loss of our dear husband and father. Special thanks to Rev. Richard Deems for his inspiring and encouraging service, the Pallbearers, the Ringers, to all who called and paid their respects, and the Muehl Funeral Home. Mrs. Clara Brugger, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Brugger and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Brugger and Family.

IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING MEMORY — of persons no longer with you and your family. This Memorial Service is available through the Want-Ad Department. For assistance in preparing a Memorial Notice and card of sympathy, call Post-Crescent Want-Ad Department or Phone RE 3-4411.
